

The Nobel Peace Prize 1964

"Pray daily to be used by God in order that all men might be free."

—Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Nobel Peace prize was presented to Martin Luther King Jr. on December 10, 1964. Queen Louise of Sweden was among the many who congratulated him.

"My creed for nonviolence is an extremely active force. It has no room for cowardice or even weakness. When a man is fully ready to die he will not even desire to offer violence. History is replete with instances where, by dying with courage and compassion on their lips, men converted the hearts of their violent opponents."
