

Honor thy father and mother

Understanding Your Elders

The Black youth must remember his history with pride and he must look upon his elders with understanding. He must realize that every individual cannot be a superman triumphant over the forces that try to keep him down. He must understand that the slum mother who works as a maid to bring food to her family or the uneducated father who does menial labor and bows to "the man" are doing the best they can to keep body and soul and family together.

"The voice of a whole people, oppressed by a common injustice, is far more likely to command attention and exert an influence on the public mind than the voice of single individuals and isolated organizations."

—Frederick Douglass

Commissioner Charles Jordan

Geneva's
4228 N. Williams

LOUIS 'SATCHMO' ARMSTRONG

Out of the slums of New Orleans, Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong rose to the top in the world of jazz.

His trumpet and gravel voice and his inimitable style and showmanship catapulted him into the ranks of musical immortality over a career spanning almost 60 years.