Presentation features child books

A quality children's book, and one which children especially will like, makes an ideal holiday gift.

Adults who would like to reacquaint themselves with the world of children's literature before selecting their gifts may see what's currently available during a free evening presentation to be held at Portland State University on Tuesday, Dec. 7, 1982, from 7:30 until 9 p.m.

During the gathering in the third-floor Media Lab of PSU's new Professional Schools Building, located at the corner of S.W. Broadway and Harrison St., Portland, the season's new children's books, as well as those fondly remembered from past years, will be shared and discussed. Those attending also will be able to browse through examples of the newer titles.
