HAPPENINGS Lives Through Music

Karen Howells, Northwest recording artist and professional singer, will bring the Washington Park Amphitheatre alive with song, dance and color, Sunday, August 21 at 8 p.m., as she performs her original production of "Reflections: A Look At Our Lives Through Music." This one woman show is Karen's interpretation of Broadway music as it relates to the universal need for fulfillment. Through this medium, Karen communicates her personal resolution to this search.

Karen has sung throughout the Northwest and Canada, appearing in a variety of concert settings and completed her first album in 1981.

The concert is privately sponsored and offered to the public free of charge.

The show will be interpreted for the hearing impaired.

Terry Lomax, Portland mime artist, will provide unusual and enjoyable preshow entertainment.

Blues with the All-Stars

Bringing Portland together in a tribute to the living legend of blues and rock, Produce Row and Geneva's are joining hands to bring you: An Evening with Willie Dixon and the Chicago Blues All-Stars.

Wednesday, September 7, at the Neighbors of Woodcraft on 14th and Morrison, Willie Dixon and the Chicago Blues All-Stars will bring you the best in blues. To add to this festive occasion Geneva's and Produce Row will be providing an array of culturally mixed food and drink.

Willie, a major catalyst between blues and rock, has had his songs recorded by the Rolling Stones, Muddy Waters, The Allman Bros., Led Zeppelin, Fleetwood Mac, Elvis Presley, The Doors, Mose Allison, and hundreds of others. His music has had a major influence on literally every major recording artist.

Willie has recently founded Blues-Heaven Foundation, an organization dedicated to the preservation of blues heritage.

With Willie, the Chicago Blues All-Stars, one of America's finest blues bands, will bring back to Portland their blues energy that has packed many houses around Portland.

Ticket prices are $6.00 in advance and $7.00 at the door. Tickets may be purchased at Geneva's, 4228 N. Williams; Produce Row, 204 S.E. Oak; Stevens & Son, Lloyd Center; Meier & Frank, Downtown, Salem and Eugene; Music Millennium, 31st & S.E. Burnside; and Frederick and Nelson's, downtown. Showtime is 8:00 p.m.
