Youth Sound Festival concert

The 1984 Washington Park Summer Festival will be featuring the Youthsound Choir and Band, July 31st, at 8:00 p.m. in the amphitheatre. This free concert is one of many concerts to be held nightly in the Rose Garden Amphitheatre. The Youthsound Choral Ensemble, under the direction of Ken Berry, has recently performed at the Hult Center for the Performing Arts in Eugene, Oregon, and at the Portland Art Museum's Berg-Swann Auditorium. This will be a performance that will enlighten all viewers. We invite you and your family to attend.

Crab Gumbo benefit dinner

Louisiana-Style Crab Gumbo, will be the featured entre, 6 p.m., Sunday, July 29th, at Koinonia House, 633 S.W. Montgomery. Enjoy music, dance, poetry as well as other culinary favorites: Ms. Jettie's home-cooked hand bread; stuffed green peppers; and, peach cobbler. A benefit for the Portland Printing Press Co-op, donations are $5 for adults and $3.50 for children under 12. For more information, call, 235-7139.

KBOO airs S. Africa teach-in

KBOO Community Radio 90.7 will be presenting a special evening of programming entitled, "Amandla Ngawethu", a South African Radio Teach-In. The program is scheduled for August 7th, from 8 p.m. to midnight. POSAF (Portlanders Organized for Southern African Freedom) and American Friends Service Committee (AFSC) will be co-sponsoring this special program with KBOO.

With the rise of a larger Black electorate this past primary season more people are questioning the United States' role in South Africa. We will be presenting segments on the following issues:

- A. History of South Africa;
- B. Apartheid what is it and how does it operate? Included will be a live interview with Dennis Brutus, An Exiled South African;

C. The Cultural Boycott-The United States has urged a boycott of artists who perform in South Africa, why is it important? And who is part of it?

D. Divestiture and South Africa's links to the rest of the world. The economics of South Africa and it's support world-wide;

E. Steve Biko-A radio play about Steve Biko produced by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

We also will be presenting music and poetry of South Africans and their struggles. Guests will include Avel Mayfield, Ben Priestly, Lennie Edwards, and Art Alexander, among others.

We urge the listeners to listen on August 7th, at 8 p.m., so they can make up their own minds on the politics and reality of South Africa. Listener phone calls will be welcomed. By the way, Amandla Ngawethu is a Zulu Quotation meaning, "Power is Ours."

Arts & crafts faire scheduled

Artists, gardeners, cooks, jewelers, hobbyists, and all other entrepreneurs are invited to take part in Providence Medical Center's third Arts & Crafts Faire and Flea Market on Saturday, September 8th. The all-day event will be held outdoors in the covered parking structure on the Providence campus, NE 49th between Irving and Hoyt Streets.

Rental spaces, 9' x 13' may be reserved for $10 now until the day of the Faire by calling Frieda Fuhrer at 230-1111, ext. 5002.

Street Music Band: Dan Bornhouser, Charles (Rhythm) Lewis, Chris Williams, Joe Mower, Rusty Cox and Michael Belcha.

Band deserves recognition

Portland's music industry is expanding due to the hard work and dedication put in by local musicians such as the Street Music Band. The Street Music Band contains a mixture of pop, rock, funk and jazz. The band has been self-sustaining due to the dedication of the band members. The band was formed about a year ago by Michael Belcha and Joe Mower who met at a Portland-area music store. Since then, the band has constructed one of the tightest musical groups found in North/Northeast Portland. The Street Music Band is a positive force in the community and is on their way to becoming recognized throughout the Portland area. The six-member Street Music Band: Dan Bornhouser (guitar); Charles (Rhythm) Lewis (saxophone, vocals); Chris Williams (lead vocals); Joe Mower (keyboards); Rusty Cox (drums), and Michael Belcha (bass, vocals). The Street Music Band will be performing at the Eldorado Club (Union & Alberta) July 25th through 28th and at Jamie's Place (13th & Fremont) August 3rd and 4th.

Taj Mahal brought the audience to their feet this past Sunday at Catlin Gabel School at the second annual World Music Festival. Thousands of people enjoyed the two-day festival, which featured a variety of world-class performers (musicians, dancers, and actors). Along with a variety of fine entertainment, one was able to try a dish or two of many of the world's fine ethnic foods.
