the opposition Christian Democrat Party, members of his family, his defense lawyer, associates and aides. Others include newspaper, radio and magazine journalists and publishers, and members of the armed forces said to have been found in possession of opposition newspapers or accused of contact with the opposition.

Army Sergeant Bienvenue Theodore, seized in 1979, is believed to be still imprisoned without charge or trial after rebuking a soldier who said he wanted to shoot strikers during a labor dispute. Sergeant Theodore was reportedly accused of being a traitor and plotting against the government.

Amnesty International said that since its report was written, it had learned of more arrests, including people who took part in church-run projects to help the poor. It received reports of at least 25 arrests in November 1984, including experts working on rural development projects and a Protestant minister seized on his return from the USA. The government has released few details on these arrests, most of which are believed to be for non-violent activity.

Volunteers needed to help elderly

Project Linkage, a non-profit neighborhood-based organization, is seeking volunteers who are willing to provide assistance to our elderly neighbors in Northeast Portland.

Current volunteer needs include friendly visiting to the lonely, respite care, housekeeping assistance and transportation. Some of these needs require an on-going volunteer commitment and others are only one time or short term. As little as four hours a month is all that is necessary to become a full fledged Project Linkage volunteer.

On Tuesday, March 26, from 7 to 9 p.m., an orientation for new volunteers and anyone considering volunteering, will be conducted by the Project Linkage staff. The orientation will be held in our office located at 2200 N.E. 24th Avenue. The evening will provide interested individuals with the opportunity to acquaint themselves with Project Linkage through a slide show, lecture, discussion and sharing with active volunteers.

For more information, contact Project Linkage at 249-8215.

Neighborhoods need artists

Visual artists, graphic designers and photographers are invited to be considered for neighborhood projects for Portland's six area neighborhood offices: Central Northeast, Neighbors North, Northeast Neighborhoods, Neighborhoods West/ Northwest, Southeast Uplift and Southwest Neighborhoods.

Projects to be undertaken include exterior and interior signs, logos, brochures, banners, carved wooden signs and photographic/slide documentation.

Artists are asked to submit a resume and optional proposal, which will be compiled by the Arts Commission and made available to the area offices, who will interview and select artists for their projects.

A budget of $1,000 is available for each project; deadline for applications is April 5, 1985.

Application forms and additional information are available from the Metropolitan Arts Commission, 1120 S.W. Fifth, Room 518, Portland, Oregon 97204 (796-5111).
