

"Portlandia" arrives

Escorted by hundreds of boats, "Portlandia" made a triumphal barge trip up the Willamette River Sunday after three years in the making. The hammered copper statue, second largest of its kind in the U.S. after the Statue of Liberty, was created by Washington, D.C., sculptor Raymond Kaskey to symbolize the city. The final leg of the trip, a seven-block move from the waterfront to the Portland Building in a light rain, was met with mixed cheers and awe by thousands of spectators. The 6-and-one-half ton, almost 35-foot high statue was welded to her final resting place on Michael Graves' award-winning Portland Building throughout the afternoon. Most onlookers seemed to agree that the long wait for "Portlandia" was well worth it.

Holiday festival of black dolls

The Holiday Festival of Black Dolls will be held on Oct. 19, 1985, at the Interstate Firehouse Cultural Center, 5340 N. Interstate.

Holiday Festival of Black Dolls represents the largest single sale and exhibit of Black dolls in the Pacific Northwest. The range is broad, including, but not limited to paper, porcelain, soft sculpture, antique and wood; many will be one-of-a-kind doll related items, clothing and accessories will also be available. Dollmakers from other parts of the country will also be represented. There will be something for everyone — collectors, doll fanciers, toy and holiday shoppers.

Refreshments, entertainment and a prize for the best decorated display area are all part of the festival, including a beautiful Christmas tree decorated and trimmed with Black dolls and ornaments. This again promises to be fun, entertaining and profitable.

Plan to be a part of the Holiday Festival of Black Dolls trade show. If you have friends who are interested, please share this information with them. For questions and additional information, please call 280-2600.

The price of admission is: Adults $5.00; age 14 and under $3.00.
