Project Linkage will hold annual auction

On Saturday, Oct. 26, 1985 at 1020 N.E. 3rd Ave. (Teamsters Hall), Project Linkage will kick-off its annual auction. This year's theme, Mediterranean Medley, will set the stage for an evening of light authentic European, African and Middle Eastern eatables, spirits and entertainment. The evening's main attraction, the silent and oral auction will begin at 7 p.m. and will commemorate the project's fifth anniversary.

Project Linkage, a volunteer service to senior citizens in Northeast Portland, is a vital program by and for the community it serves. Friendly visiting, transportation, housekeeping, minor home repairs, respite care and yardwork are the most frequent requests for services that Project Linkage volunteers are able to provide.

Come browse "The Marketplace," sample assorted Mediterranean delicacies and bid on that special something you've been yearning for. Parking will be available just north of the hall. Tickets cost $10. Call or write Project Linkage for more information, 2200 N.E. 24th, Portland, OR 97212, 249-8215.

New minister welcomed by Allen Temple CME

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye Lands." — Psalm 100:1

The Allen Temple CME Church is making a joyful noise for the coming of their new minister and his family who came to our city and church, bringing a spirit that revitalized the entire congregation.

Rev. Phillip Scott Nelson is intellectually equipped as well as "spirit filled." He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Psychology from Wayne State University, Detroit, Michigan, and a Master of Divinity from Garrett Evangelical Seminary. He has been Pastor and Executive Pastor throughout the states of California, Michigan, North Carolina, Ohio, Illinois and Alabama. In Charlotte, North Carolina, he was the founding pastor of Faith Christian Methodist Church. Married to Gladys Anderson Nelson, they have two children: Joshua, 3, and Christina, 10 months. Mrs. Nelson has a ministry of her own as wife, mother and first lady of the church. Professionally, she is a teacher of the deaf with a B.S. in Education of the deaf from the University of North Carolina.

Rev. Nelson has also been involved in an international ministry. He was one of 150 participants traveling to Port Au Prince, Haiti, for the founding conference of the CME Church and later traveled to Lausanne, Switzerland, to observe the Congress of World Evangelism.

The Allen Temple family invites you to come and praise the Lord with this dynamic spirit-filled minister at any time. The doors are open to receive you.

Women's Aglow Fellowship schedules conference

A number of local women are planning to attend the 1985 International Conference of Women's Aglow Fellowship scheduled Nov. 3-6 in Anaheim, California.

They will join from six to eight thousand delegates from Women's Aglow Fellowships in the U.S. and around the world for the four-day meeting of Christian women at the Anaheim Convention Center.

Evangelism will be the conference theme. Highlights will be prayer for revival in all nations and unity among Christians, reports of God's moving throughout the world, plus praise, worship, prayer for healing and fellowship.

Guest speakers will include Pat Robertson, founder and president of the Christian Broadcasting Network and host of TV's The 700 Club; David Wilkerson, the "gang preacher," whose Teen Challenge drug rehabilitation program is internationally known, and John Wimber, an outstanding figure in the field of church growth, who is also known widely for his teaching on signs and wonders, healing, and the ministry of the Holy Spirit and His gifts.

Halloween celebration slated

Halloween games, prizes and photos with the Great Pumpkin are just some of the surprises planned at the Providence Montessori School Halloween Carnival, Saturday, Oct. 26 from 11:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Activities just right for goblins aged 2½ to 8 include face painting, a balloon walk, a candy grab and lots more.

The Carnival will take place at Providence Child Center, 830 N.E. 47th Avenue. A nominal fee will be charged for all activities. Sponsored by the Montessori School parents, the carnival will raise funds for school equipment.

RELIGION UPDATE

by Dee Armstrong

More than 700 lives have been taken as a result of apartheid in South Africa.

It is time for God's people to do what they do best in times like these and that is to pray.

A "National Day of Prayer for Peace" was called by Bishop Desmond M. Tutu and clergymen from various denominations recently.

Tutu, winner of the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize, and other worshippers were forced to leave a prayer service at St. Mary's Anglican Cathedral in Johannesburg after two anonymous telephone callers warned that a bomb had been planted in the church. As the worshippers continued their service in a nearby building, the police, using dogs, searched the cathedral but found no explosives.

Tutu, who had initially suggested a weeklong work stoppage if the government failed to take steps to dismantle apartheid, later returned to the cathedral.

"Leaders of nearly 50 churches, including Black, English-speaking white and Afrikaner clergymen, announced last month that they would urge Christians to stay home Wednesday to give the day to repentance, mourning and prayer for those sinful aspects of our national life which have led us to the present crisis."

"The churchmen said they were seeking the release of political detainees, an end to apartheid and the state of emergency proclaimed by the government, and negotiations between the government and Black leaders they regard as authentic. They later stressed that they were not calling for a one-day strike but were asking Christians to request the day off. The churchmen suggested that those who could not take the day off ask for time to attend prayer services."

"The action by the religious leaders quickly drew controversy and some Black organizations and labor unions criticized the churchmen for not consulting them before making the call. The United Democratic Front, the main non-parliamentary opposition group in the nation, said it supported the move in principle but would not urge people to stay away from work."

"As South Africans prayed for peace, the police reported the deaths of two Black men in violence that has continued in this nation for more than a year."

Burnside area Loaves & Fishes celebrates renovation

The public is invited to attend a reception celebrating the renovation of Burnside Loaves & Fishes Center. Bill Naito, Burnside area developer, will be on hand to help launch the new facility. The open house is slated for Wednesday, Oct. 23 from 4 to 6 p.m. Burnside Loaves & Fishes is located at 601 West Burnside, Second Floor.

Last year, Burnside Loaves & Fishes served over 25,000 meals to indigent and homeless senior citizens who congregate in the Burnside/Old town neighborhood. In addition 13,900 Meals-on-Wheels (Meals-on-Heels) were served to the shut-in elderly who reside in the area's apartments and hotels. Loaves & Fishes has operated a meal site in the Burnside area since 1975. Two hundred twenty meals are served each day; 40 percent of those are to homebound elderly who very often have no cooking facilities.

The $85,000 renovation project included the building and equipping of a kitchen and meal service area. In addition, a storage area was added and the dining room was spruced up.

Funds for the project came from the Chiles Foundation; Multnomah Area Agency on Aging; The Collins Foundation; The Clark Foundation, and Oregon Community Foundation. Also, many individuals, including a Loaves & Fishes staff member, donated to the renovation's capital fund.

Loaves & Fishes Centers, Inc. is a private, not-for-profit, tax-exempt corporation which provides hot, nutritious noon meals and variety of supportive services to people age 60 and over. Loaves & Fishes has 30 centers serving over 3,200 meals daily in Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington counties.

Participants gather at centers where they take their noon meal and enjoy friendship and activities. Homebound elderly receive Meals-on-Wheels — hot meals delivered to them at home by Loaves & Fishes volunteers.

Volunteers give approximately 24,000 hours each month in all areas of the program and at every decision-making level.
