Carla Williams Sees Bright Future

by Bob Lothian

When her picture appeared on the cover of "Careers" magazine last September, Carla Williams had already completed much of the groundwork for a successful career. As a University of Oregon student, Carla spent last summer as a research assistant at Portland State University. Her work in the engineering department included operating computers. In previous summers, Carla worked in the accounting department at the Nike, Inc. main office in Beaverton. Carla, 22, who grew up in Northeast Portland, graduated from U of O June 15 with a bachelor of arts degree in speech and telecommunications. She plans to go into public relations work for a television or radio station, hopefully in Los Angeles or Atlanta, she said. At the university, Carla was a member of the speech team, a member of the Black Student Union, and she was a soprano in the University Gospel Ensemble. She was also a member of Save Our Sister, a group for minority women students. "We were promoting particularly the image of women of color," she said. Carla's overall grade point average was above 3.0, and she appeared on the Dean's List spring term for having a g.p.a. above 3.5

Before going away to school in Eugene, Carla graduated from Lincoln High School where she was a cheerleader and Rose Festival princess.

She recommends U of O as a good choice for prospective college students from Northeast Portland.

"It's a good school," she said. "There are a lot of different activities -- anything anybody wants to do."

Also, she said, "The Black Student Union is a good organization to go to and meet different people." Carla will spend this summer again at Nike. In the mean time, she said she will be sending out resumes to potential employers in the broadcast industry.

"I have lived in Portland all my life and I would like to broaden my horizons and see the rest of the world," she said.

"Relief" is what she feels after four years of college, she said. "It may not seem like it can come true while you are doing it, but you'll pull through if you hang in there and keep up the good work," Carla said.
