North East Emergency Food Program

The North East Emergency Food Program is a grassroots project to address hunger in inner-Northeast Portland. It provides up to a 3-day supply of nutritious, balanced meals to families or individuals in a crisis and/or emergency situation. To date, the program has provided more than 5,000 nutritious meals.

Located at 1912 N.E. Killingsworth, the program is 4 years old and is sponsored by the Albina Ministerial Alliance, Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon and the Urban League.

Albina Ministerial Alliance (AMA) is an association of ministers serving congregations in North and Northeast Portland. The organization has been active for many years and was officially incorporated in 1971. One of the primary purposes of the Alliance is to identify and support programs through which the ministry can provide social and economic enrichment to those who live and work in the community and to seek and disburse funds for the benefit of families residing in the service area.

Such is the case with North East Emergency Food Program. AMA received these funds through the Templeton Foundation.

In addition to the joint sponsorship of North East Emergency Food Program, AMA also sponsors Portland's only full-day Head Start Program, the Family Day and Night Care Program (a support service program for child care), and the Self Enhancement Program.

The Alliance is currently under the leadership of Rev. John H. Jackson, Pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church.

Persons desiring more information on the Emergency Food Program should call 284-5470.

"I don't care how many years go by. It still makes my breath stop every time I remember."

"My little girl was about the same age my granddaughter is now. I'd had some cleaning fluids under the sink and Sally must have gotten into them while I was upstairs.

"When I found her, she was sitting on the kitchen floor, holding one of those bottles. And acting mighty sick. I called the doctor over in Corvallis, but just kept on getting a busy signal.

"So I did the only thing I could think of. I called the operator. She just took over and cut in on the line and asked if the doctor was in, and he was. She put him on. And just that quick he told me what to do.

"These days, of course, the doctors all have something called 'Call Waiting,' so they know if you're trying to get through. Why they can even check your vital signs, right over the phone.

"But whatever miracles the phone company comes up with next, I'll always be grateful for that operator."

At Pacific Northwest Bell, we've always been more than operators or data transmission, or even Call Waiting. At PNB,

We've always been the future."
