Paulus Meets With Northeast Residents

by Jerry Garner

Norma Paulus, a candidate for Governor of Oregon, met with a group of African-American citizens in Northeast Portland. Paulus was the guest of Dr. William and Monica Little during a 2 1/2-hour reception in her honor.

During the gathering, Paulus explained to the 50 guests who were invited to the reception about her vision for the future of Oregon. Paulus said her number-one priority was to get the state's sluggish economy moving.

"Oregon's future is unlimited. We have the people, the resources, the tools and the resolve," Paulus said as Governor she would work closely with small business, telling those present at the reception that approximately 80 percent of all jobs in America are in small businesses.

Paulus told the group that she will work to resolve the liability insurance problems that threaten the future of many of Oregon's small businesses. When someone asked her if she would consider having a liaison in her administration to work with minority business in an effort to address the critical issues confronting minority-owned business, she responded by saying she was receptive to such a proposal.

Most of Paulus' talk and the questions asked of her were economic issues. When a man asked her about her remedy for addressing the high unemployment rate among Black Oregonians, especially among Black youths, Paulus said, "In order for every Oregonian to be employed, the state economy must be revitalized. We must do a better job of marketing our state and take advantage of our timber, agriculture, tourism and manufacturing capabilities. This will create jobs," Paulus said. She stated she will also restructure the workers' compensation system and reform the complicated permit process.

The guests at the reception were warm and friendly to Paulus. Paulus also mixed well with the guests and posed several times with groups and individuals wanting to take pictures with her.

Paulus served as Oregon's Secretary of State for eight years and as a state representative. She and her husband Bill, to whom she has been married for 27 years, have two grown children, Elizabeth and Fritz.

Announcement

Parent Child Services, Inc. will be serving USDA reimbursed meals twice a day commencing 9/23/86. The benefits of this program are available to all enrolled children without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, or national origin.

Classes

Separate classes on beginning and refresher typing will start Tuesday, September 23, under auspices of Portland Community College.

The non-credit classes will meet in Room 121 of Lincoln High School, 1600 S.W. Salmon St., every Tuesday for 10 weeks. The beginning course will be from 6 to 7:30 p.m.; the refresher, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., according to Instructor Barbara Freeman, who has taught numerous typing classes on the high school and community college levels.

Freeman said the course will help students learn to type with skill and confidence through the development of proper techniques. Tabulation, centering, business letters, forms, numbers and symbols will be covered. A textbook will not be required because necessary materials will be handed out in class, Freeman said. However, students will be asked to supply their own typing paper.

Announcement of Informational Hearing

The Bureau of Parks and Recreation has received a proposal to rename Irving Park, located at NE 7th & Fremont. The policy of the Bureau at the time of request outlines a process for collecting information on each proposed name change prior to making a decision on the request. The hearing is strictly for information which will be considered along with other information in preparing a recommendation.

As part of this information gathering process we are inviting interested citizens to share their viewpoint at a hearing scheduled for September 30, 1986, 7:30 p.m., Matt Dishman Community Center Auditorium, 77 NE Knott, or submit responses no later than October 7, 1986 to Cleve Williams, Bureau of Parks and Recreation, 1120 SW 5th, Room 502, Portland, OR 97204.

The proposed name change is from Irving Park to Lloyd "Tony" Stevenson Park. The proposed name change was submitted by the Black United Front.

Information received from the community should be directed to the appropriateness of the specifically proposed name change, particularly the contributions of the individual to the development of the specific park.

COMMUNITY ENERGY PROJECT BEGINS WEATHERIZATION WORKSHOPS

The Community Energy Project is beginning its fourth year of providing free weatherization workshops to Portland residents. During the months of October through February, 30 workshops will be held in Inner-Northeast and Southeast neighborhoods. These workshops teach participants easy no-cost and low-cost ways to stay warmer in the winter months and save money on utility bills. Both renters and homeowners are invited to attend. Low and moderate income participants who qualify will receive $50 worth of free weatherization materials that they can take home and install themselves for immediate energy savings. This project is funded by the City of Portland's Bureau of Community Development. For more information contact the Community Energy Project at the Eliot Energy House, 3116 N. Williams or call 284-7868.

Sparrow is the name of many small, common birds. The name comes from an Anglo-Saxon word spearua which it is believed was a general term for all small birds.

When President Theodore Roosevelt took cross-country walks, he made it a point to always walk in a straight line—even if that meant swimming a creek in winter or scaling a steep cliff.
