Mumford & Williams Park/Why Not

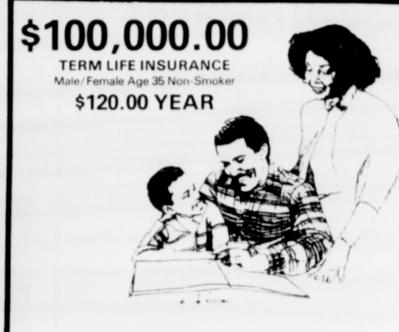

"I could think of no better memorial than Ira Mumford Park," said Flaine Harrison at the hearing to rename Alberta Park. More than a dozen people testified at the hearing at Matt Dishman Center Thursday before Parks Supremiendent Cleve Williams. Williams will make a recommendation to City Commissioner Mike Lindberg on changing the name of the park. According to the book "Portland Names and Neighborhoods", Portlanders in 1882 probably chose Alberta, the youngest child of Queen Victoria in naming the park. "If we are still so fascinated with history, I think Alberta Street would be sufficient." said Harrison.

... people all over Oregon are concerned about '14'the proposal to shut down the Trojan electric plant.

Because Measure 14 simply makes no sense.

Shitting down Irojan, an operating nuclear power plant which has reliably and economically produced about as much electricity as Bonneydle Dain for more than ten years, would provide no real benefits to Oreganians and would lead to negative embrouse ratal and economic consequences. A bandwar of Trojan is deastic and answorranted. It samply makes no sense.

standpoint. Measure 14 would be of no benefit to the people of our state. Sharing down a proven operating electric plant is a drastic approach that makes no sense. In voting NO on Measure 14, and I never you to vote NO too.

Because of the impact on Oregon's environment.

Stan Oregonian with a deep commitment to our state's commonwent. I strongly oppose Measure 14. How will we replace the electric supply which comes from Frighn? Two things are most likely-more dams and more coal use. Measure 14 will be bad for the conveniment. Please one Measure.

Because of the impact on consumers' electric bills.

Shutting down Trojan would increase Oregonians' electric bills because electricity from Trojan is far less expensive (2.6e per kilowatt bour) than electricity that would have to be used (which evers up to 7e per kilowatt bour) to replace Trojan's electricity. There is no surplus of reliable electricity at Trojan's predictable low cost.

A Measure 14 would close one of our cheapest sources of electricits. It is estimated that the cost of replacing frojan's power would be over a billion dollars. We're the one who will payever mouth in our utility bills. Higher utility rates caused by shutting down Trojan will hart everyone... including those living on fixed meating Before you vote, please think about the price tag for all Oregonians, especially those least able to pay 50.

Mayor of King City and Senior Astroist

Because of the impact on Oregon's economy.

Shotting down Trojan means the sunnediate loss of hundreds of jobs, and the state wide economic impact of the Trojan shutdown would place thousands of more jobs at risk. Closing Trojan at the cost of jobs and higher electric fulls would nunecessarily hur) Oregon's tears to rebuild Oregon's economy because we all have a stake in Oregon's economy and its future. Measure 14 isn't a game. If this deastic measure passes, we It all pay the price. Aleasure 14 is a step backward that none of us can afford to take.

Ur. James F. Reiemuth, Dean College of Business Administration University of Oregon

A few of the thousands of Oregonians who have joined the NO on '14' Committee to help defeat this drastic proposal:

John D. Gray, Chairman Tektronix, Inc.

Dr. Larry Blake President Overon Institute of Technology Fred J. Burgess, Dean College of Engineering Overon State University

Stafford Hausell, Farmer

Art Johnson Professor of Nuclear Engineering Oregon State University John W. Mitchell, Ph.D. Chief Economist U.S. National Bank of Oregon

A. Keith Parks Retired General Manager Engene Water & Floring Board Freddye Peren Community Leader Cecil Posey, Past President United Seniors

Dr. Alan H. Robinson Professor of Nuclear Engineering Oregon State University Linda Shelk Community Volunteer

It is vital that on November 4th, Oregonians vote NO on Measure 14.
