

PCC Celebrates Black History Month

Portland Community College will observe "Black History Month" during the month of February. A variety of events will be held on each campus. There will be guest speakers, local and national personalities in many areas: government, law, education, politics, industry, labor and the arts. Movies for entertainment and films dealing with serious issues facing society will be shown at various times of the day and evening. Check the program schedule below for times and places for the events that interest you. The Portland community is invited to attend.

Should you need additional information, call the following campuses: Cascade Campus, 283-2541; Rock Creek Campus, 645-4461; Southeast Center, 777-8020; and Sylvania Campus, 244-6111.

New Directions Northwest, being held at the Portland Art Museum, is the first exhibit of regional Native American contemporary art. The exhibit includes paintings, drawings, sculpture and fiber work by 14 Indian artists who either live in this region or were influenced by Northwest culture. Their works range in style from abstract to funk to neo-expressionist, and combine the artistic traditions of both tribal and mainstream cultures. The exhibit will run thru March 15, 1987.
