

Business of the Week

From Beverly Hills to Albina

After twenty years as a locksmith, Raynard Wroblewski proudly boasts of having the largest key selection in town at his Walnut Park location with an inventory of over 18,000 keys. The former Californian provides service for foreign autos, domestic homes, businesses, safety deposit boxes, safes and virtually any lock requiring a key.

"I have even made a key for a chastity belt in Beverly Hill, California," claims Raynard.

Learning his trade from an on-the-job training experience in Beverly Hills in 1967, Wroblewski has seen his business expand to Tacoma, Washington, and now provides full locksmith services from two fully-equipped service vans, as well.

"We provide quality service on all of our jobs with emphasis on making sure the job is done right. We may not be the cheapest locksmith in town, but security doesn't come cheap," added Ray (as he likes to be called).

Services to senior citizens are discounted at 10% on materials and $.25 on all keys.

Ray said his commitment to the community was sincere, as he owns the business and the property and plans to grow with the area.
