

Roy DeCarava looks at a book of his photographs with 4-year-old Jonathan Slaughter. An exhibit of DeCarava's photographs and jazz portraits are on exhibit at the Oregon Art Institute thru May 31. In Portland for two days, DeCarava spoke at a reception at the Art Institute and was at the Talking Drum Bookstore for a reception and book signing. DeCarava's photographs were used to illustrate Langston Hughes "Sweet Flypaper of Life", a best seller of the 1950's. Photo by Richard J. Brown

Donald and Wanda Warren admire their daughter, 13-year-old Kristin in the flight suit she received when she attended NASA Space and Rocket Center at Huntsville, Alabama. Kristin was one of twentytwo youngsters from Oregon that spent a week at camp going through training similar to that given astronauts. The highlight of the trip for the Beaumont Middle School 8th grader was a simulated space flight. Photo by Richard J. Brown

Travel Photography
Tips Offered

Detailed and practical tips on travel photography will be offered in a one-day workshop designed for both novice and advanced amateur photographers Saturday, May 2, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Mt. Hood Community College.

The workshop will provide information on how to select equipment and film, utilizing the composition techniques and choosing the best exposures. Practical tips on how to avoid travel-related problems such as X-ray machines, customs, culture shock, equipment theft and poor weather also will be included.

The fee for the workshop is $10 and includes a 20-page travel photography handbook. For information on the class and registration, call 667-7428 or 667-7429.
