studio and talked about his medium, artwork, process and the business skills required to run a studio. Photo by Richard J. Brown

New Cable TV Health Talk Show

"Healthwatch", a new health talk show specifically targeted at minority viewers, made its television debut July 12, 1987, in Portland, Oregon. The show airs several times monthly on cable channels 13, 27, and 33.

The thirty-minute program features leading medical professionals who discuss a variety of interesting health topics. "Healthwatch" is special, because it's the only health show in Portland which offers African-American perspectives of current medical issues," explains Aleem Shabazz, Director of the Northeast Health Resource Center.

Topics scheduled for future discussion include: AIDS, hypertension, drug abuse, cancer, as well as a variety of other issues concerning the health of African-Americans.

To clean a badly stained broiler pan, sprinkle heavily with dishwasher detergent or dry laundry detergent. Cover with dampened paper towels and let stand an hour or so.

CORRECTION

Ella Powell is Chairman of the Board of Directors for Highland Community Services. Karen Powell was mistakenly identified as chairman and, according to Highland Community Services, has had no involvement in Highland Community Services. The Observer regrets printing the incorrect information.
