

World Music Picnic Set For NW Portland

A World Music Picnic featuring ethnic music from three continents will be held Sunday, August 9th, at Wallace Park, N.W. 26th and Raleigh. The picnic, sponsored by World Music, is free to the public. Picnickers will begin gathering at 1 p.m. to the sounds of special world music selections broadcast by KOAP Radio, 91.5 FM. Live music will start at 2:00, rain or shine, and will continue until 6 p.m. Performances will include traditional African music by Obo Addy's Okropong, Celtic music by Jan De Weese and friends, Laotian music by Lao Deum, and Breton and Balkan folk music by Gary Haggerty and Kenny White.

The picnic will take the place of the annual World Music Festival, an all-day event sponsored by World Music since 1983. Last year's festival assembled performers of nearly 20 different kinds of folk and ethnic music. The organization's board decided to concentrate on producing individual concerts and projects in 1987, with the summer festival to resume in 1988. This year's mini-festival is designed both to keep the festival's spirit alive and to kick off planning for the 1987 festival.

King's Capsule to Visit Oregon

The Martin Luther King, Jr. time capsule will be visiting Oregon in July of 1987. To be hosted by the Oregon Commission on Black Affairs, the time capsule is scheduled to arrive late in July and will stop in Portland, Salem, Eugene and Medford. Oregonians will be able to have their names laser inscribed on the time capsule liberty bell. The bell, with a million or more names inscribed upon it, will be placed inside the time capsule, which will then be imbedded at an historic site in Washington, D.C., to be opened after 100 years. Look for more information soon.

Freeway Speed Not For Everyone

When Oregon's new rural interstate freeway speed limit goes into effect the last week in September, not everyone will be allowed to go 65 all the time.

"The law in Oregon requires a 55 mile-an-hour maximum speed for trucks and non-commercial buses, such as worker transport, church and school buses. That will hold true even in the sections that are signed for 65 for the rest of the driving public," said L.E. George, Highway Division traffic engineer.

George told the Transportation Commission Tuesday that all drivers will have to slow down on two sections of Interstate 5 because of safety considerations.

One section near Myrtle Creek will remain at the present posted speed of 50 miles-per-hour due to a series of sharp curves. An 11 mile section of I-5 from south of Ashland to the California state line will also keep the current 55 mile-per-hour speed as it traverses the steep grades and tight curves of the Siskiyou Summit.

The federal speed law allowing states to raise rural freeway speeds will also keep urban freeways in Medford, Eugene, Salem and Portland at 55 miles-per-hour, George said.

Altogether, 16 percent of Oregon's 720 mile long interstate system will stay at 55 miles-per-hour or less, George added.

S.E. Cleveland Avenue Road Closure

S.E. Cleveland Avenue (S.E. Division Street to E. Powell Blvd.) will be closed to through traffic, July 20, 1987, to September 1, 1987, for sewer construction.
