

The Quarter Million $ Kid

Public school fees, books, crayons and blunt scissors – $3,085. And for a four-year college Bachelor's degree, add $123,182!

Your car, your gas, and his Cub Scout camping trips... better figure $26,072 just for transportation.

Three meals a day, seven days a week, plus snacks – $39,500.

Ouch! Medical expenses can run you $9,060.

Fun, games, recreation, and that 'must-have' Masters of the Universe figure – $19,883.

$12,380, and he's still outgrowing last year's clothes!

And a mere $53,242 will keep a roof over his head.

Experts estimate that it'll cost you well over a whopping quarter of a million to take your child from diapers to diploma.*

That's a commitment that not only takes a lot of love and caring, it takes a lot of planning, too. Which is why it just makes good sense to have a solid financial institution on your side. Like Far West Federal Bank.

Far West offers banking services that make sense. Like our basic checking accounts. Our variety of loans for financing everything from homes to cars to college. Convenient Visa, and our low rate MasterCard accounts. Savings plans, including short and long-term Certificates of Deposit for safe, secure investing. And so many more services designed for convenience, value, and peace of mind.

You'll find Far West in 34 locations all over the Portland metropolitan area. So come in to one of them soon, and let Far West show you how we can help with your financial needs. We want to help – because we know how costly raising your priceless children can be.

*Based on U.S. Department of Agriculture figures and an annual inflation rate of 5% for a child born in 1987 until age 18.

Based on current college inflation rates and an annual inflation rate of 5%

It just makes good sense.

Main Office – SW 5th & Washington, Portland, Oregon, Phone 224-4444