

Portland Observer

Careers for the '90s

special edition

Which Way for Oregon's Youth?

Cosmetology

Medical/Dental

Apprenticeships

Arts

Computer Technology

Aerospace

Armed forces

If you have the ability and the desire to lead, there's a place for you with the armed forces.

Communications

"Communications is a field that requires flexibility--you should have skills to work in sales, advertising, t.v., radio, newspaper, and marketing. It's like one-stop shopping. A degree would help, too..."

-Ulysses Tucker, Jr., T.V. Producer/Freelance Writer

According to the statistics compiled by the Portland School District for 1989 high school graduates, of the 2,744 who graduated, approximately 1,800 indicated they were going to college. Simply speaking, this means almost 1,000 Portland area youth sought training and/or employment careers in a somewhat promising market in the northwest.

This year's graduates are expected to increase by approximately 8%-10%, and according to forecasts, will bring with them some of the skills and training mandated by employers.