

NOMINATIONS FOR THE 1990 SENATE PRODUCTIVITY AWARDS

Senator Mark Hatfield and Bob Packwood announced that they will be accepting nominations for the 1990 Senate Productivity Awards.

Nominations for this year's award will be accepted until November 5, 1990, and should include the name of the company contact, the company's address and the telephone number. Completed applications will be evaluated on employee relations, actual productivity changes as well as other areas.

The Senate Productivity Award was established in 1982 to foster productivity awareness and to honor companies with outstanding productivity programs. Each year both Sen. Hatfield and Sen. Packwood present a productivity award to an organization in Oregon which has produced a product or performed a service in a particularly efficient and effective manner.

Senator Hatfield will present the 1990 Senate Productivity Award for Manufacturing and Senator Packwood will present the 1990 Senate Productivity Award for Agriculture or Service.

Companies or individuals may make nominations by writing to:

Senator Mark O. Hatfield
Senator Bob Packwood
Room 114 Pioneer Courthouse
101 S.W. Main St. #240
Portland, Oregon 97204

For more information, please contact Ann Warner in Senator Hatfield's office, 326-3386 or David Dillon in Senator Packwood's office, 326-3370.

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN UPDATE

After five weeks of Campaign '90, United Way of the Columbia-Willamette has raised $3,612,230, or 18.5 percent of its $19.5 million goal.

The North Region has raised $91,261, or 10 percent of its $904,982 goal. This region is led by Associate Campaign Chairwoman Janice Wilson, senior vice president of the metro east region, First Interstate Bank of Oregon. It runs from St. Johns east to 42nd Avenue and the Columbia River south to Burnside Street.

"The campaign is going extremely well at this point. Employee giving is running ahead of last year," said Bruce Willison, chairman of the board for First Interstate Bank of Oregon. "We expect the momentum to continue through the remainder of the campaign."

United Way raises and distributes funds in Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington counties in Oregon and Clark County in Washington. It supplies nearly 200 agency programs with money collected during the annual fund-raising drive.

These dollars help provide child care, mental health counseling, adult day care, information and referral, emergency food boxes, drug and alcohol abuse treatment, independent living experiences for disabled individuals, health and dental care, and services for victims of domestic violence and kids at risk of involvement with drugs, gangs, delinquent behavior or teen pregnancy.

RDI RECEIVES FEDERAL GRANT TO COMBAT DRUG ABUSE

Director William Bennett, Office of National Drug Control Policy, and Dr. Louis Sullivan, Secretary of Health and Human Services, announced the award of a major federal grant to the Regional Drug Initiative. The grant from the Federal Office for Substance Abuse Prevention will amount to $609,080 for the first year. Total funding for the five-year project is expected to be $2.5 million.

The City of Portland, which is the fiscal agent of the Regional Drug Initiative, will oversee the budgetary accounting for the grant. In accepting the grant award on behalf of the Regional Drug Initiative, Mayor J.E. Bud Clark said, "the City is proud to be a member of the RDI Community Partnership. RDI represents the Portland way of fighting the drug problem: a concerted effort by those in law enforcement, education, prevention, treatment and at the grassroots community level."

The program, entitled the Community Partnership Demonstration Project, is one of the first to be funded from a new national initiative. The project in Multnomah County will mobilize all components of the community in developing and implementing an alcohol and drug abuse prevention system. Michael D. Schunk, Multnomah County District Attorney and Chair of the Regional Drug Initiative, reported, "this federal grant will enable our community to cut the demand for illegal drugs and reduce the problems associated with abuse of alcohol and other drugs."

LOOKING FOR THE BEST LABEL
Marjorie Judith Vincent, Miss America 1991, is a label-conscious consumer. Her favorite? "Made in U.S.A." And the wardrobe for her new role as spokesperson for the U.S. textile/apparel industry will feature nothing but all-American apparel—thanks to the Crafted with Pride in U.S.A. Council, a four-year Miss America Pageant sponsor. Throughout the year Marjorie will be making appearances at top stores across the country, urging consumers to look for and buy apparel and home fashions with the "Made in U.S.A." label. Here she wears a suit by Suitables.
