proved bench play of Cliff Robinsons and the addition of Danny Ainge? "All Ainge does is take shots from their big men. It's the same team." Did we see two different games, Bill? "look, what do you want me to say?", asked Laimbeer. "You're going to write what you want to anyway. I repeat, they are the same team." Other Pistons comments: Joe Dumars - "It only counts as one W in the column. I don't care if it's an expansion team you're playing, you only get one victory. Besides, it's too early to tell..."

Isiah Thomas - "The best team, tonight, won. Portland, behind Terry

Porter (28 pts.) and Kevin Duckworth (27 pts) defeated the Pistons 113-101.

Clyde Drexler, listen, The Locker Room is a fan of basketball, not the Los Angeles Lakers. You must have the column mixed up with my cousin Rochelle Gantt in Washington, D.C. She is the Laker fan and Magic lover. So, please stop calling the columnist a Laker fan because as you know, writers are abject! Besides, we are not allowed to cheer at the press table. Oh, keep on "glidin'" like you're "glidin'" and leave that jumper alone. You can post-up any guard in the league...

Jim Hill honored as top Sportscaster...

LA Raiders superstar Marcus Allen congratulates popular Sports Anchor, Jim Hill of KABC-TV, Channel 7 in Los Angeles after presenting him with the prestigious Sports Journalist of The Year Award at the Cedars-Sinai Sports Spectacular Dinner held recently at the Century Plaza Hotel. Previous winners include Vin Scully, Dick Enberg and Jim Murray. Hill received the coveted award before a throng of supporters active involvement in the community.
