Update On The Campus/Building Project

BY MICHAEL LINDSEY

We (North Portland Bible College) are pleased to report some great progress toward buying the two parcels of land on the south end of the block, each with a house. The owner and mortgage holder of the house at 4905 N. Vancouver Ave. have agreed to release their interests in the property at a nominal cost, if we pay all taxes and liens on that land. That means we should be able to purchase clear title to the land for a little over $8,000. Costs to make a down payment on the house at 4906 N. Gantenbein are still about $750.

At the regular meeting on November 19, 1990, the Board of NPBC voted to proceed with the purchase of both these houses expeditiously as possible. As the details of the transaction have come to light, we still seem to be about $1,500 short of the amount needed to close the purchases. However, we believe that the Lord who has brought us this far and will supply all that is needed to finish the job. If the Lord speaks to your heart to help the school acquire these properties, please send your donations to NPBC, marked for "Campus/Building Fund." Donations will also serve to buy necessary permits, materials for remodeling the houses, utilities and property payments on the "Gantenbein House."

Portland Woman Wins Nationwide Search for Mature Model In Fifth Annual Dove Classic Model Discovery Contest

Juanita Wyndham, 35, of Portland Oregon, has been named grand prize winner in the Fifth Annual Dove Classic Model discovery search for a woman over 30 to launch into a professional modeling career.

Ms. Wyndham wins a $25,000 cash prize, a one-year modeling contract with New York's Elite Model management and a $5,000 Anne Klein wardrobe.

A mother of two boys and a former police officer, Ms. Wyndham was selected from more than 8,000 women who entered the model search. Named a regional winner in October, she competed with five other regional winners at a judging competition in New York during a four-day, all-expenses paid trip that was awarded as part of the prize.

While in New York, Ms. Wyndham was photographed for a feature article to appear in the March 1991 issue of Ladies' Home Journal, co-sponsor of the contest with Dove Beauty Bar. Wyndham maintains her model-beautiful appearance with a regular schedule of aerobics, weight training, hill-walking and cleansing her skin with Dove Beauty Bar.
