Oregon Public Broadcasting's
Coffee, Tea & OPB Offers Children an Unforgettable Winter Weekend

The Oregon Public Broadcasting Foundation announces plans for its second winter fundraising extravaganza entitled Coffee, Tea & OPB. The public is invited to come out of the cold and relax in a coffeehouse atmosphere. Enjoy piping hot coffee and tea drinks, light entrees and delectable desserts from some of Portland's finest establishments. Classical and jazz groups, literary readings and children's activities will also be featured in a festive 35,000-square-foot coffee-house setting. Admission is $5.00 (children under 12 FREE) for the event at Montgomery Park, 2701 NW Vaughn, Portland, Oregon, Friday, January 31, 5:30pm to 10pm; Saturday, February 1, 9am to 10pm and Sunday, February 2, 9am to 6pm. Scrip will be sold at the event for the purchase of food and beverages.

Coffee, Tea & OPB is not just for the mature caffeine lover. Children under the age of 12 will be admitted free and find a whole component has been designed especially for them. Art Media is providing supplies for a hands-on art project that kids will be able to take home. A sampling of the Northwest's finest children's performers will offer a unique opportunity for entertainment and education. Strings Attached, a chamber ensemble, will play a program that educates young audiences about classical music while involving them in a great adventure story. The Lady Bug Theater will present one of its many popular children's theater performances. Angel Ocasio will be on hand to entertain with his special assortment of clowning, mime and vaudeville comedy routines. Jay Harris brings us the multi-cultural and fun Rhythm of Cultures and The Abalone Kids shows. Other performers throughout the three days include Sheila Rubin and The Frog Dance, Timothy Turtle, Dan'l B'loons, Rainshine's Espresso Magic, The Jelly Bean Show and Roger Coles - The Storytelling Fool.

Coffee, Tea & OPB is presented by Davis Wright Tremaine Lawyers; and co-sponsored by Capital Trust Company, KINK FM 102, Willamette Week and Oregon Public Broadcasting. The event, a benefit for OPB, is designed and produced by Metropolitan Events.

Illinois Store Owner Sentenced to Prison And Restitution Of $1,000,000

An East St. Louis, Ill. grocery store owner was sentenced to 25-months in prison and three years' probation after pleading guilty to illegal acquisition and redemption of over $1 million in food stamps.

According to Leon Snead, inspector general for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Kenneth J. Coates, 44 owner of Coats Market, was sentenced in U.S. District Court in East St. Louis after a guilty plea in October 1991. He was also ordered to pay $1 million in restitution.

Coates pled guilty to one count charging him with theft of food stamps. As part of his plea, he agreed to forfeit to the government his 1987 Mercedes-Benz automobile, stocks, and the proceeds from the sale of his store.

An Office of Inspector General investigation disclosed that Coated purchased food stamps for 65 to 85 percent of their value and subsequently redeemed them for the full face value. Over a 17-month period, he redeemed $1,682,711 in food stamps, while his legitimate food stamp sales during the period totaled less than $400,000.

Food stamps may only be used to purchase eligible food items at stores authorized to participate in the Food Stamp Program. It is illegal to exchange them for cash or other non-food items.

The case was prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert T. Coleman.

King, on speaking: "Unfortunately, when hope diminishes, the hate is often turned most bitterly toward those who originally built up the hope...the only time that I have been booted...I went home that night with an ugly feeling...I finally came to myself, and I could not for the life of me have less than patience and understanding for those young people...their hopes had soared. They were now booing because they felt that we were unable to deliver on our promises [of equality]."
