Washington Post Columnist

Ulysses Tucker, Jr.

Syndicated Urban Affairs columnist William J. Raspberry of the Washington Post newspaper will be the featured guest on Sunday NW in honor of Black History month. Raspberry, a member of the Post for 29 years, will be interviewed by Sunday Northwest producer Ulysses Tucker, Jr. Tucker spent time with Raspberry while he was in Portland and Corvallis, Oregon recently. He has been producing the television program, hosted by Rick Meyers, for three years. Raspberry will talk about the state of the Black race, growing up in the segregated south, his career as a journalist, racism in America, civil rights, and much more.

This special edition of Sunday Northwest airs Sunday morning, February 9, 1992 at 8:30 on KATU Channel 2.

Emergency Pediatric Care
Course Offered for the First Time Through ED-NET

Providing emergency care for the critically ill or severely-injured infant or child can be a frightening experience--scary for the child and unsettling for the provider. Even the most seasoned professional emergency care personnel often do not provide care to children often enough to feel comfortable with their level of knowledge.

To help emergency medical providers gain this knowledge, Oregon Research and Education Foundation and Portland Community College have teamed up with the other community colleges throughout the state to offer an Emergency Pediatric Care Course through ED-NET (the state-wide satellite education network).

"Emergency Pediatric Care," written and taught by experts in pediatrics and prehospital care, is designed for EMT 1 and 2's. Beginning February 11, this live interactive telecourse is scheduled for broadcast on four Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. Students will be able to ask questions and discuss topics of concern with the presenters during the telecast. A one day follow-up clinic will be provided after the completion of the four telecasts, with faculty traveling to designated sites.

Participants will learn pediatric assessment and management, take part in simulated medical and trauma emergency case studies, and practice pediatric procedures while learning how to assist Advanced Life Support (ALS) Personnel.

This course has been approved for 16 hours of continuing education credit by the Oregon Health Division for all EMTs and may be applicable toward recertification.

Portland Community College will be offering the program at the Sylvania Campus. For more information or registration, please call 244-6111, Ext. 2596.

The cost of the course is $110. Partial funding for this project has been provided by a grant from Oregon Health Division and a grant from Oregon ED-NET.
