Lakers Take Lead In Pro-Am

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

The Lakers of the Portland Pro-Am League is the only undefeated team after the second weekend of play. Led by last week's Player of the Week, Darnell Valentine, the Lakers beat the Hawks almost as bad as the USA beat Cuba with a final score of 114-71 in Saturday's nightcap. Valentine scored 35 points, as Wendell Talley helped out with 23 points and led the Lakers in rebounds.

Other games on Saturday found the Celts trouncing the Knicks 124-100. Eric Dunn again led the Celts with 31 points, while Robert Key had 33 for the Knicks. Anthony Steward and Terrell Brandon lit it up for 39 and 35 points, as the Cavs marched over the Spurs 130-100. Derreck Brooks led the Spurs with 38 points.

On Sunday all three games were very close with the spurs getting back on the winning road with a 99-95 victory over the Knicks. Steve Adams' 25 made him the high point man for the Spurs. Robert Key led the Knicks with 32. The Hawks' Chris Sheldon and Reggie Blue scored 22 points apiece in their 85-83 win over the Warriors.

In the last game of the weekend, Anthony Steward's three-pointer at the buzzer led the Cavs in a 109-018 victory over the Celts. Because he led the Cavs to two wins over the weekend, Steward has been named Player of the Week.

After two weeks of league play, the Portland Pro-Am standings are as follows: 1) Lakers 3-0; 2) Hawks 3-1; 3) Celts 3-1; 4) Warriors 2-1; 5) Spurs 1-3; 6) Knicks 0-3.

The Portland Pro-Am League has no games scheduled for the Fourth of July weekend.

Eight College Standouts To Train With '92 Dream Team

Colorado Springs, CO-The collegiate basketball world will play a valuable part in helping the 1992 USA Olympic Men's Basketball Team prepare for the Barcelona Games. Eight of the top USA collegians have been selected by USA Basketball to form a Development Team that will scrimmage daily against the USA Olympians during their June 22-26 training at the University of California, San Diego.

Named to the USA Basketball Development squad were: Anfemee Hardaway (Memphis State/Memphis, Tenn.); Grant Hill (Duke/Reston, Va.); Allan Houston (Tennessee/Louisville, Ky.); Bobby Hurley (Duke/Jersey City, N.J.); Jamal Mashburn (Kentucky/New York, N.Y.); Eric Montross (North Carolina/Indianapolis, Ind.); Rodney Rogers (Wake Forest/Durham, N.S.C.) and Chris Weber (Michigan/Detroit, Mich.). USC head coach George Raveling will serve as head coach of the USA Development team, and will be assisted by University of Kansas mentor Roy Williams.

"The USA Olympic team has a very short training period prior to participation in the Basketball Tournament of the Americas (the Olympic qualifying tournament for the Americas) and this team of current college players is going to play a very important part in our preparation," said USA Olympic coach Chuck Daly.

"These eight collegians are some of our country's best college players and many have international experience which will prove invaluable in our Olympic preparation."

Truly a collegiate all-star team, four of the eight members of the USA Basketball Development Team hail from Atlantic Coast Conference schools, including Hurley and Hill from 1992 and 1991 NCAA champion Duke. Hurley, the MVP of the 1992 NCAA Final Four and an all-America selection, averaged 13.2 ppg. and 7.6 assists a game as a junior, while teammate Grant Hill was named to the NCAA all-Final Four Tournament team and all-America after averaging 14.0 ppg. and 5.7 rpg. rounding out the collegians from the ACC is all-ACC first-team choice Rodney Rogers, who in 1991-92 averaged 20.5 ppg. and 8.5 rpg., and University of North Carolina starting center, 7-0 Eric Montross, who posted averages of 11.2 ppg. and 7.0 rpg. in 1991-92.

Great Midwest Conference MVP Anfemee Hardaway finished his sophomore season averaging 17.4 ppg., and 4.9 assists a game, while Michigan's sensational freshman 6-9 Chris Weber, the 1992 Big Ten Freshman of the year, concluded his rookie season by leading Michigan to the NCCA championship game and averaging 15.5 ppg., 10.0 rpg. and 2.2 apg. a pair of all-Southeastern Conference first-team selections top off the eight-man USA Development squad. 6-6 Allan Houston of Tennessee concluded his junior season averaging 21.1 ppg. and 5.3 rpg. and 3.2 apg., while Kentucky's 6-8 Jamal Mashburn, who garnered SEC Tournament MVP honors, finished up with team high averages of 21.3 ppg., 7.8 rpg., while hitting 43.9 percent (58-132) of his three-point tries.

Doggone Good Golf Tournament Draws Close

The Oregon Humane Society's Fore-Footed Friends Golf Classic - 1992 is on Friday, July 10, at Colwood National Golf Course on Columbia Boulevard. Golfers interested in playing and having a "doggone" good time while benefitting the Society may still be able to sign up for play.

The tournament is a fundraising event for the Humane Society. Each participant pays $100 to play in the tournament and receives a golf shirt, golf towel, lunch, gift bag and use of a golf cart. There is an extensive list of tests and door prizes.

The Humane Society tournament features traditional on-course contests along with the Wild Pony Hole in One, Benji Hogan Buried Bone and Rover's All Over awards. Local celebrities in-Player information is available from Karen Brittain at 285-7722

Pacific Northwest's AllStar Rugby Team Become National

Portland, OR, June 9th -- Oregon Sports Union (ORSU) on behalf of the Pacific Northwest "Loggers" Rugby Team, announces that this representative all-star team became National Champions, competing in Chicago during the 6th and 7th of June 1992.

The tournament consisted of winning representative teams that beat other teams in their region to qualify for entry. This is the first time this level of competition has been organized.

"This is the missing link in developing a sequence of progression from local to National level of competition which recognizes regional players commitment to succeeding. In winning this tournament, the Loggers have brought a great deal of respect to the sport, the region, and themselves as skilled athletes," comments John Clarke, Head Coach of the Loggers.

From this competition, National selectors pick out outstanding players to play for the USA National team, "The Eagles". The Loggers set high levels of recognition with a first round win against Texas, 42-24 on the Saturday, and then won the Championship in a thrilling game against Chicago, with a score of 21-9.

"The game of Rugby as a sport demanding high levels of skill and athleticism is rapidly gaining recognition, and the display that these players put on reinforced this. The Northwest should be proud of their tremendous achievement," added Clarke.

Within Oregon, the following players were at the finals:
