Statement of Qualifications are due November 16, 1992.

U.S. Bank Opens On Saturdays

New Saturday hours compliment U.S. Bank's 24-hour telephone customer service

Eighteen U.S. Bank branches in Portland's east metropolitan area are scheduled to introduce Saturday branch hours beginning Nov. 7, according to Kevin Kelly, president of U.S. Bank of Oregon.

"Through U.S. Bank's new decentralized structure, we have taken a serious look at how we operate, and how we can serve customers even better in each region of the state," said Kelly. "Community by community, we have talked with customers about their overall banking needs and daily schedules, and have asked them how U.S. Bank can make banking easier. Convenience issues have dominated our customers' comments."

The result, said Kelly, is a grass-roots network of new Saturday branch hours for walk-in and drive-up banking at 60 branches throughout Oregon. In addition, U.S. Bank is raising customer and on-customer awareness of the advantages of using the bank's 24-hour, toll free UCALL automated service and personal U.S. Bank Customer Service.

A recent survey shows that U.S. Bank customers use UCALL or Customer Service telephone assistance more than 1.4 million times each month, with more than 50,000 phone calls daily.

"The way people bank is changing today, with more customers finding convenience through electronic banking, such as automated teller machines (ATMs) and toll-free telephone service any time of day," said Dick Burnham, area president, East Metro Area of U.S. Bank. "But U.S. Bank hasn't forgotten that many of its customers prefer more traditional banking means. Some are interested in visiting their branches on Saturdays, and some customers want longer weekday hours to ensure they can do their banking after work."

Kelly said that with more than 180 branches, more than 450 UBANK automated teller machines (ATMs) and 24-hour, toll-free UCALL telephone service throughout Oregon, U.S. Bank latest decentralization enables our area presidents to deliver truly localized customer service backed by the resources of the largest bank in Oregon."

U.S. Bank's of Oregon is a subsidiary of U.S. Bancorp, the largest financial services company headquartered in the Northwest. With assets of $21.1 billion as of Sept. 30, 1992, U.S. Bancorp is one of the nation's largest financial institutions, and has ranked among the top tier of these companies in performance and capital strength for the last several years. Other U.S. Bancorp subsidiaries include U.S. Bank of Washington, U.S. Bank of California, U.S. Bank of Nevada and U.S. Bank of Idaho.

World Community Day Has Native American Theme

A worship service written by Native American Christian women from Oklahoma will be used nationwide for the annual World Community Day ecumenical celebration sponsored by Church Women United.

In Portland, World Community Day will be held Friday, November 6, from 9 a.m. until noon at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, 5828 NE 8th Ave.

Dorothy One Road Ackerman, a long-time advocate for the Native American community, will be guest speaker. She will read the Presidential proclamation citing 1992 as the Year of the American Indian and review the role Native Americans have played in the history of the United States.

The worship service, entitled "Discovering the Sacred Circle," was written by Kiowa, Western Cherokee and Muscogee women and observes the 500th anniversary of the arrival of Columbus.

The World Community Day service is free and open to the public. Native American arts and crafts will be exhibited and some items will be for sale. Light refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Church Women United joins Protestant, Catholic, Orthodox and other Christian women who wish to work together for peace, justice and equality.

Dr. Robert Bigley To Be Cited At Sickle Cell Conference

Dr. Robert Bigley

BY SEAN NELSON

Former Oregon Health Sciences University geneticist Dr. Robert Bigley will be cited for his dedication in helping those with Sickle Cell disease at a seminar at Emmanuel Hospital November 20.

The citation will be a highlight of the seminar which is scheduled in Board Room 1073 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

at Emmanuel Hospital, 2801 N. Gantenbein, said Pastor Marcia Taylor, executive director of the Portland Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation, PSCAF.

"Dr. Bigley dedicated over 20 years of specialized service in the treatment and care of Sickle Cell patients. He was sensitive and went far beyond the call of duty, giving patients and their families his home number.

"He conducted inservice sessions on the hospital floors helping nurses, interns and other doctors understand the complications of Sickle Cell disease and its psychosocial impact," Taylor said.

The session is designed to aid recognition and treatment of Sickle Cell Syndromes, stress early diagnosis through newborn screening and comprehensive care, and promote understanding of its impact and improving the quality of life for patients, she added.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. for the conference entitled: "Hidden Complications and Future Directions" which features Dr. Robert Johnson, director of the alta Bates Adult Sickle Cell Program in Berkeley, Calif., Taylor said.

Dr. Johnson will speak on the pathophysiology of Sickle Cell Syndromes, their complications in adults, and employer/employee relations for those with the disease, she added.

R. Lance Sieger, chief of Pediatrics, Hematology and Oncology at UCLA Medicine Center will speak on newborn screening, current crisis treatment, variants and target populations, Taylor said.

Both doctors will speak on achieving success in school for children with the disease and psychosocial hidden pain, she explained.

Other participants will include Taylor, Linda Knudson, who has a Master's Degree in Social Work at Kaiser Hospital, Carol Bonnono, an RN. at OHSU, Dr. Richard Cohen of Kaiser Hospital a client of the Portland Sickle Cell Anemia Foundation, Taylor said.

Registrants may seek accommodations at the Travelodge Hotel, 1441 N.E. Second Avenue, in Portland for $48. The registration fee is $25, she added.
