Trail Blazers To Debut "Rip City" Magazine

Trail Blazers fans can now get the ultimate fix on their favorite basketball team and a special collectors' player-action poster in each edition of the team's new publication, Rip City Magazine. The 48-page, full-color magazine will be available throughout Oregon and southwest Washington beginning in early November.

"We receive fan mail from all over the world and it's obvious there are a lot more fans than the 12,888 that have made our games 'sellouts' for the last 15 years," said team president Harry Glickman. "We feel it is essential that we continually work to open up new lines of direct and candid communication with our fans."

In the inaugural issue, Eddie Sefko of the Houston Chronicle will give readers a look back at Clyde Drexler's incredible "Dream year" bringing home the Olympic Gold as a member of the United States basketball team. Coach Rick Adelman will dissect the "pick and roll" play, while radio analyst Mike Rice takes a look inside his crystal ball to see what the future holds for the 1992-93 season. The November issue will also feature NBA legend Larry Bird highlighting some of his memorable battles with the Trail Blazers. Fans will also get an up-close and personal look at one of the newest Blazers, Rod Strickland.

Rip City Magazine is printed monthly during the NBA season, November through June. The cost is $3.50 per issue and discounted subscriptions are available for $18.95. Fans can purchase Rip City Magazine at area newsstands, in Memorial Coliseum, and at Blazers on Broadway in downtown Portland. Subscriptions are available by calling 1-800-876-Dunk. Holiday gift certificates can also be ordered.

Saints Take Two From Seattle

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

The Portland Saints opened its season with two wins over the Seattle Legends this past weekend.

On Saturday the Saints played catchup all night at Columbia Christian College. Behind by as much as twelve points, Saints'

Diana DeYoung, Sandra Howell and Alisa Robinson started a comeback late in the game as the Saints pulled away to a 80-72 win.

Robinson led the way with 18 points and 13 rebounds. Howell scored 17, and DeYoung added 15. But the floor play of point guard Miriam Jenkins was the key to victory. Miriam took charge when the Saints made their move with six minutes to go. At that time Seattle led 65-60. Jenkins three-pointer from the top of the key led a 15-2 run, and a 75-67 lead, and the Saints never looked back.

On Sunday afternoon, the Saints jumped on Seattle from the onset and led by as many as 19 points in the first half. Seattle made it close in the second half at 65-60, but Alisa Robinson took over and the final outcome was 97-85.

Robinson scored 27 points and pulled down 20 big rebounds. Point guard Jocelyn McIntire chipped in with 15 points, all-everything guard Diana DeYoung added 13 points and made some outstanding passes to Robinson in the post.

The Saints will be on the road this weekend with games at Western Washington University in Bellingham, Washington on Saturday night, and at Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, B.C. on Sunday afternoon.

Portland Observer Player Of The Week

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

This week's player of the week is again from Jefferson High School. This time it is senior quarterback Mark Burke.

Mark has been steady all season long. However his superb performance in Saturday's game earned him the Portland Observer's "Player of the Week" nomination.

Burke had touchdown passes of ten and eighty-five yards, and a two-point conversion, and has led Jefferson to a 6-2 football season record.

Mr. Mark Burke, we at the Portland Observer take our hats off to you and congratulate you for having an outstanding game against Roosevelt and for being named "Player of the Week."

Grant And Roosevelt High Schools Featured In National Report On Exemplary Programs

Grant and Roosevelt high schools are featured in a recent report by the U. S. Department of Labor which recognizes exemplary projects that prepare students for the work force.

The publication, SCANS-Secretary's Commission On Achieving Necessary Skills-Northwest: A Regional Blueprint of Model Projects, commends four Grant High School programs: Cellular One-Grant High partnership, the Institute for Science and Mathematics, the Partnership Project and the Vocational Mentoring Program with Good Samaritan Hospital.

The Cellular One-Grant High School Project involves Cellular One employees as mentors and was developed to allow students to work collaboratively on projects, help demystify wireless technologies and increase career awareness.

The Institute of Science and Math at Grant prepares students for college and develops awareness of work force skills and science-related career options.

The Partnership Project focuses on keeping youths in school and helping them graduate and succeed in the work force. It is a year-round school-to-work transition program at Grant and Marshall high schools.

The Vocational Mentoring Program, a partnership between Grant and Legacy Health Systems at Good Samaritan Hospital, enables juniors and seniors to explore a wide variety of work and learning options in a hospital setting.

Roosevelt High School is featured for its Roosevelt Renaissance 2000 program which is designed to give students skills necessary to succeed in the 21st century work place. The freshman class of 1993 is the first to embark on a new design for learning which includes re-defined standards of achievement, new curriculum and teaching methods.

Jefferson Maintains Lead In PIL

BY JOHN PHILLIPS

Jefferson and Marshall both share first place records of 6-2 in the PIL. Due to the fact that Jefferson beat Marshall earlier in the season, the Demos should win the league's number one seed in the state football playoffs, coming up in two weeks.

On Friday Marshall handed Lincoln a 21-0 loss, as Tom Stewart scored two touchdowns on a one-yard run, and caught a 27-yard pass from quarterback Robby Buen.

Wilson upgraded their record to 5-3, with an easy 35-12 win over up-and-down Grant.

Franklin moved to a 4-4 record, with a double overtime 13-7 victory over Benson.

On Saturday Jefferson kept pace by beating Roosevelt 21-0. The Demo's defense has played exceptionally well the last two weeks and just might be the key factor when playoffs begin. Nevertheless, it was the performance of quarterback Mark Burke that led Jefferson to its sixth win of the season. Burke threw two touchdown passes to Hakeem McCallister; one for 10 yards and the other for 85 big yards. To top off a good day, Burke had a run for a two points conversion.

In another game on Saturday, Cleveland zipped Madison 6-0.

This week's games find Franklin at Jefferson, Lincoln at Wilson, Roosevelt at Madison, Cleveland meets Benson at Civic Stadium at 6 p.m., and Marshall squares off with Grant in the 8 p.m. game at Civic Stadium. All games are played on Friday night.

Blazers Schedules Available In Braille, Spanish
