

Many Oregonians will need help staying warm this winter. Won't you lend a hand?

Without the caring of people like you, thousands of Oregonians will face a winter without heat in their homes. Many of these people are trying to deal with sickness, unemployment and other unusually difficult circumstances. Trying to keep the heat on will be just one more strike against them.

With your help, however, Oregon HEAT* can keep them wrapped in the warmth of your generosity.

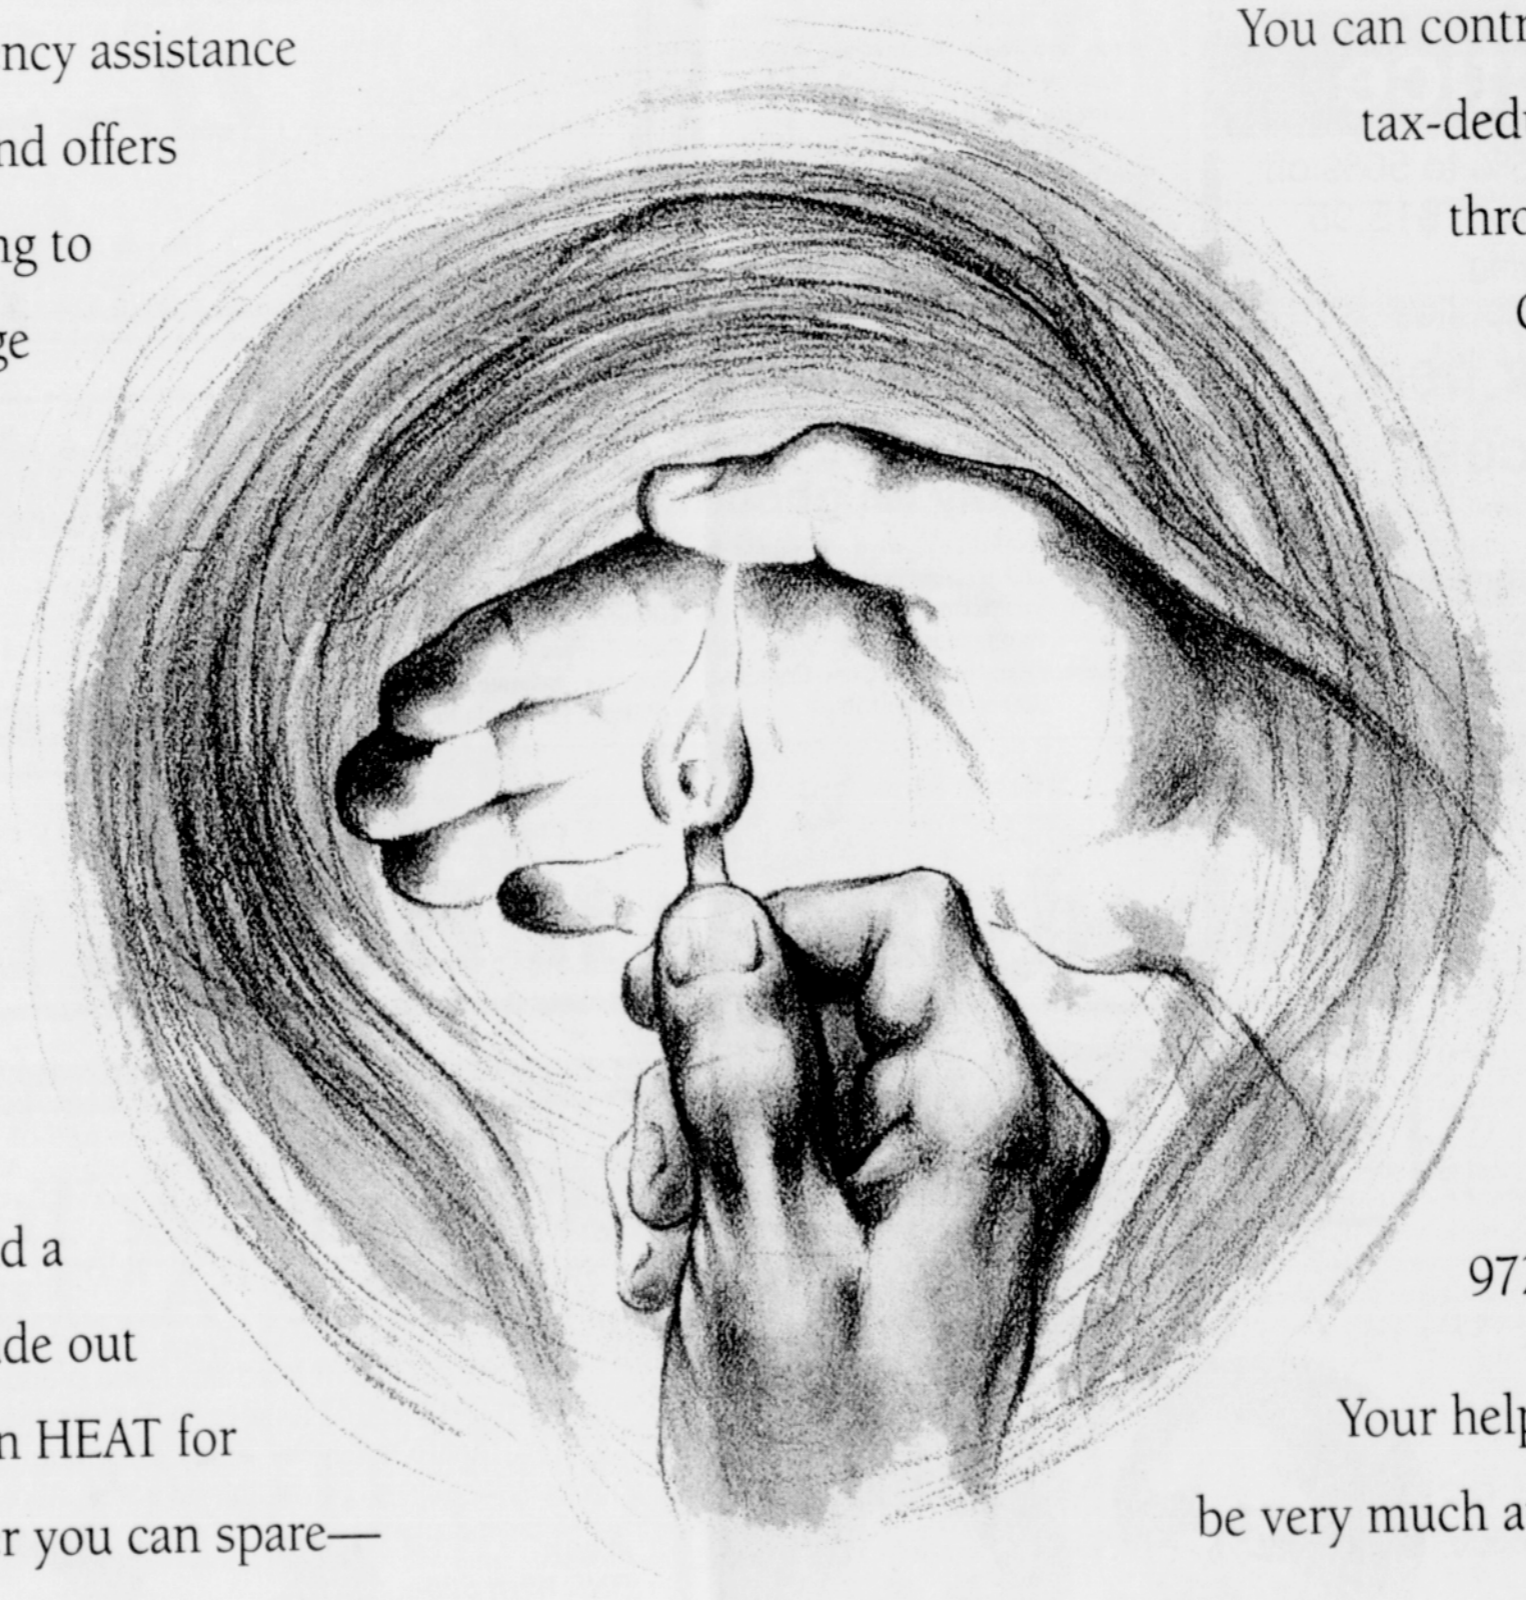

Oregon HEAT provides those in need with emergency assistance with fuel bills and offers energy counseling to help them manage their energy use more efficiently. Your support is essential to help those with the greatest need get through the winter.

Please send a check made out to Oregon HEAT for whatever you can spare—

$5, $25, $100—any amount will help.

You can contribute your tax-deductible donation through your Portland General Electric or Pacific Power monthly energy bill, at any local Bank of America branch, or by mailing a check to: Oregon Heat, P.O. Box 5080, Portland, Oregon 97208-5080.

Your helping hand will be very much appreciated.

*Oregon HEAT (Home Energy Assistance Team) is a non-profit coalition of energy providers and community agencies including Portland General Electric and Pacific Power.
