

YMCA Appoints Reginald Tiller New Executive Director

Reginald Tiller

The YMCA of Columbia-Willamette is happy to announce the appointment of Reginald Tiller as the Executive Director for its North/Inner Northeast branch, which serves people north to the Columbia River, south to Brazee Street, east to 33rd Street and west to Columbia and Willamette Rivers confluence. Programs offered by the North/Inner Northeast branch are Child Care and Youth Sports. Reginald Tiller comes to Portland after serving the Nashville, Tennessee YMCA for 7 years in the area of Community Development. A major part of his position was networking with local schools, political figures, businesses, and the juvenile court system to build a strong alliance in the community to bring a broad spectrum of services to the community.

He graduated from Trevecca Nazarene College in 1987, with a B.S. in Athletic Training/P.E. and Minor in Psychology.

Families, Inc. Opens Its First Project

Housing Our Families, Inc., a non-profit organization dedicated to affordable housing for women and their families, has completed its first project: rehabilitation of a four-plex in North Portland.

An opening ceremony for the new units was held Tuesday, Feb. 9. Housing Our Families received the foreclosed property from Multnomah County's Housing Affordability Demonstration Program and secured a $70,000 rental rehabilitation loan from PDC. The property, once a vacant and abandoned neighborhood eyesore, has been completely transformed into four, one-bedroom units with a waiting list of eager tenants.

SUPPORT CHILDREN HOME ALONE

The Child Welfare League of America estimates that approximately 44,000 children in the Portland area are "latchkey kids," children home alone after school until their parents return home from work. Portland Adventist Medical Center and Portland Adventist Community Services are working together to provide a telephone support line for children "home alone" in the Portland area.

The nationally known program called PhoneFriend is a confidential, after school telephone support line for kids, staffed by trained volunteers. This prevention oriented service is targeted to home alone children, and will be available from 3 to 6 pm on school days and 2 to 6 pm during summer vacation. The calls are toll free and phones will be staffed by volunteers trained for empathetic listening and support roles. Volunteers will have the ability to access 911 in case of an emergency call, but PhoneFriend does not replace 911.

PhoneFriend is funded by community donations. Thus far, 56% of the funds needed to start the program have been received. Donations may be sent to Portland Adventist Medical Center Development Office, 10123 SE Market Street, Portland, OR 97216. Donations to this program is tax deductible.

Oregon Teens And HIV Risk

Although five of the 1,537 AIDS cases reported in Oregon have been in teenagers, another 20 to 150 teens may already be infected, according to a report released today by the Oregon Health Division. The report, "Oregon Teens and HIV Risk: Implications for AIDS Prevention," explores the extent of HIV risk in Oregon young people and makes recommendations for HIV/AIDS risk prevention education.

The report indicates that Oregon teens are at higher risk of HIV infection than early statistics would indicate. Analyzing other Oregon information about teen HIV risk including HIV infection rates, reports of sexually transmitted diseases (STDs), teen pregnancy trends, and results of youth risk behavior surveys, the report estimates that the number of HIV-infected teens in the state may be four to 30 times greater than reported teen AIDS cases, according to Claudia Webster, Health Division HIV education manager.

Young Professionals Present Talk On "Job Market"

("Selling Yourself In A Competitive Job Market")

"Selling Yourself in Today's Competitive Job Market" is the subject of a talk to be presented by Miltie Vega-Lloyd, Human Resource Director for KPTV-Ch. 12, Thursday, Feb. 18, 6pm, at the State Building, 800 NE Oregon Street, Room 120C in Portland. The event is sponsored by the Urban League Young Professionals.

Miltie's experience in human resources in the Northwest includes work with NIKE, U.S. Bancorp and Wendy's International. As chair of the Oregon Council for Hispanic Advancement (OCHA), Miltie also understands minority employment issues. She is well qualified to identify the key activities in a successful job search, especially in today's tight job market.

"Economists predict that there will be little job growth in Portland in 1993 and that most growth will not be in highly skilled job categories," Miltie observes. "As a result there will continue to be great competition for the available high-skilled, high-paid jobs." Learn how to compete effectively in your next job search at this informative talk.

BECAUSE ONLY BY CELEBRATING CULTURE CAN WE HOPE TO INSPIRE ART.

Whether made with words, images or music, art resonates through African-American life. Recording our experience, revealing our humanity, depicting our soul. It can soothe or excite, enlighten or entertain, constantly compelling us to look and listen.

At Kraft General Foods, we're proud to help bring the visions and sounds of ethnic culture to the community. Not only helping people to experience the art of others, but inspiring the artists themselves.

Because only through the celebration of art can we begin to understand what makes us human.
