

Nation Of Islam Leaders And Managers Past, Present and Future (The time and what must be done)

Leader: a guide or director; showing the way

Manager: to handle-in charge of affairs of firm or institution

When analyzing and trying to get the root understanding of leadership and management of the past, present and future it is best for believers in God to use scripture as the criterion and starting point for such an intelligent endeavor. Because the Bible and Quran are not just ancient books but is/are guides for us today. The Honorable Elijah Muhammad said of these books (Bible and Quran) that, "we make such history every 25,000 years. When such history is written, it is done by twenty four of our scientists. One acts as judge for the others. Twenty-three actually do the work of getting up the future of the nation, and all is put into one book and at intervals where such and such part or portion will come to pass, that people will be given that part of the book through one among that people from one of the twelve (twelve major scientists) as it is then called a scripture which actually means script of writing from something original or book." Message To The Black Man page 108--So it is only logical to relate the scriptures to today (reality). We get a body of valuable knowledge when relating the family, community and world events of today to the scripture (Bible and Quran). But when relating today to scripture we must examine how we perceive today (reality). "How we perceive reality is based upon the condition of our heart and mind and the quality of our faith." Opening Letter to study guide 12 Sept-25-1987. There are forces outside of you and inside of you that wants to keep you from rightly perceiving the time and what must be done (reality). The H.E.M. (Honorable Elijah Muhammad) said concerning the leadership of the past and present era or scripture that "for the past 6,000 years we have had to live in an evil world that was designed to destroy the peace of man and shed his blood." Our saviour Has Arrived page 212--And he said that "The white race was given a limited time (6,000 years) to be the overlord (white) of our earth and ourselves. He is well aware of it (time)." Our Saviour Has Arrived page 104--This is not irrational because God used the children of Israel to spread truth and his glory. He likewise can use a people to put the planet (population) through a purifying process by making us despise wrong and disobedience to him by letting evil and oppression dominant the planet. From the first beginnings of the white race in Europe to the making of the U.S.A., even recently, (although their influence on the people is demising) they have shown tremendous skill in dividing and conquering other people for the use of goods, land and people. There is no denying that there never was a people on our planet so skilled in using knowledge and creation for other than Godly or good ends. White people Lead and managed(s) us because they were (are) best fit to transmit the negative side of humans civilization). Before I write further on this subject let me make something clear: I am not saying that every white person is our enemy. I am speaking (writing) in general, and a generalization is not necessarily true except that it points to a prevalent or dominant condition. If I say that black people in America are dumb I am saying that, with all of our brilliance, collectively we do nothing for the benefit of the whole (masses). In a similar case, generally, white people have ruled wickedly you only need to compare their past and present history with the Bible's evil rulers and peoples of ancient times, then you will understand. The Honorable Elijah Muhammad said that 1914 marked the end of the white peoples rulership. Now a new day is dawning over the planet. Thus, black people, and all people, are in need of proper leadership.

The H.E.M. Taught us that whenever there is a longing in people for change nature will produce a/the leader to bring about a/the change. And depending upon the degree of the change needed the greater the leader will be to usher in the change. When there is 100% dissatisfaction expect the Christ. When that leader (Christ) appears his very genes are coded with the people's (humanity) longing. So that his life will direct him to develop his innate capacity (potential) to serve the people. I call the development of his capacity=manager. Because, being born to lead, he now has to learn how to overcome barriers that result (because of Satan's rule) when people work together. Thus, naturally this born leader will attract followers that he will work on and through to establish God's will. These followers of Christ will be leaders and managers that will aid the Christ in establishing God's kingdom. The correct standard that we use to identify these followers is that their lifestyle will be unlike the norm of the society(ies); qualified laborers of Christ. A qualified laborer of Christ is one who can find the root of the Hon. Elijah Muh. in scripture and has an intelligent concept of Nation. Also a qualified laborer of Christ is one who does not over-indulge in teaching fire and brimstone (God's chastisement). "It ain't wise to chastise and preach just open the minds of each." Ice Cube's Amerikkka's Most Wanted. The Holy Quran Say's, "So have patience, as men of resolution, the messengers had patience, and seek not to hasten on for them (their doom). On the day when they see that which they are promised, (it will be) as if they have not tarried save an hour of the day. (Thine is) to deliver. Shall any be destroyed save the transgressing people?"

UO Students To Receive Bell, Multicultural Awards

The University Of Oregon Office of Multicultural Affairs recognized nearly four dozen students of color, including the 1993 recipients of the Jewell Hairston Bell awards, on Saturday, May 15.

Seniors Tri Bui and Michelle Singer each received $500 for the Bell awards during a luncheon that honored students of color who made outstanding contributions to the university and community through academic excellence and leadership.

Bui is an Asian-American majoring in political science from Eugene. Singer is a Native American majoring in general science from Salem.

"The Bell award honors outstanding students of color whose presence and community participation have furthered the cause of cultural diversity at the University of Oregon," said Randy Choy, Office of Multicultural Affairs program coordinator. "A committee of faculty members selects recipients of this award from a list of nominees submitted by the UO faculty."

Bell, in whose honor the awards were established, headed the UO Multicultural Affairs office, then known as the Council for Minority Education, from 1983 to 1986. When she died in August of 1990 in Cambridge Mass., she was director of Tufts University's African American Center.

In addition to the Bell awards, 23 students received OMA Leadership Awards in recognition of their academic success, excellent leadership ability and strong community involvement at the university.

Eight others were honored for their outstanding academic performance with OMA Academic Excellence Awards.

Two faculty members-Robert Proudfoot, and associate professor of international studies and folk and ethnic studies, and Clarence Spigner, an assistant professor of anthropology and ethnic studies-received Outstanding Faculty Awards in recognition of their strong commitment to working on issues of cultural and ethnic diversity at the university.

Bui, Oregon's 1992 Harry S. Truman Scholar, is the son of Vung Thi Vo. A member of the UO Affirmative Action Advisory Board, he co-founded the Vietnamese Student Association and is a member of the Asian/Pacific American Student Union, which he co-directed during 1990-91.

Bui also has served on the leadership team for the Office of Multicultural Affairs, worked on the university's Student Orientation staff and has been a student assistant for the On-Campus Internship Program in the Dean of Students Office. He has been an interpreter for Vietnamese immigrants and was assistant for the Asian Council's Asian Celebration.

A UO Presidential Scholar since 1989, Bui received the Vernon

Barkhurst Award in 1991 and Koyl Cup in 1992. A member of Mortar Board and Friars honoraries, he is listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Singer, the university student awards coordinator, is the daughter of Sam and Irene Singer. She is a member and past director of the Native American Student Union, participates in UO Council for Minority Education activities and serves on the Coalition for Post-Secondary Education for American Indians in Higher Education. A member of the Oregon Indian Education Association, Singer helped establish UO chapter of the American Indians in Science and Engineering Society.

She is a mentor/tutor/academic adviser for American Indian students, and through the National Student Exchange program, attended the University of New Mexico during the 1991-92 school year.

The recipient of an American Baptist Women of Oregon scholarship and an Oregon Under-Represented Minority tuition waiver, Singer previously received a Navajo Nation scholarship. She received the university's Gerlinger Cup and an Office of Multicultural Affairs Leadership Award in 1991, is a member of the Friars honor society and is listed in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The Roberts Report

BY GOVERNOR BARBARA ROBERTS

I recently signed into law a school funding bill that will affect every local school in Oregon. Nobody who voted for that school funding bill thought it was good for schools. I don't think it is good for schools. The bill simply does not provide enough money to run our schools.

I had to make many tough decisions as I proposed a balanced state budget for 1993-95. Public safety programs, our prisons and state police, was the only area that took a smaller cut than education in my budget proposals.

Under Measure 5, the state's responsibility for local school funding is rising by more than $1 billion in the 1993-95 budget. That huge increase, along with population growth and inflation, means the state simply can not afford to pay for all the services it has offered in the past.

K-12 education is more than 40 percent of the state budget, and it had to take its share of the cuts. Even if we closed every state university or shut down every state prison, we still would not have enough money to avoid cuts in local schools.

It is our job as legislators and as governor to balance the state budget, and the school funding bill, with its cuts, was part of doing our job.

But our job is also to look to the future, and to do what is right for Oregon. We face an estimated $2.5 billion shortfall in the 1995-97 budget, twice as much as the shortfall we are currently struggling with. The revenue forecast released May 14 only confirms that harsh outlook.

Oregonians want schools they can be proud of, they want to be safe in their communities, and they want to know they will have health care. I've said it before, and I'm going to say it again: Oregonians want the kind of future that can only be achieved by reforming Oregon's tax system.

It is time for the Legislature to open discussions about tax proposals. I want to make it clear that getting a tax plan out of the Legislature--just any tax--is not the goal.

The goal is to find the right plan. I will support any plan that is fair, adequate and which has a chance of winning Oregonians' support on the ballot.

But before any vote on a tax plan, the Legislature must make more tough decisions. They must act on my proposals to streamline state government, cutting costs and making it more efficient. They must bite the bullet and set priorities for services within tight dollars.

Portland Youth Serving Agency Opens New School

Oregon Outreach, Inc. (O.O.I.) announces the opening of their alternative school in a new location at 3802 NE Martin Luther King Blvd. The school is registered with the Department of Education as a private alternative school. Many of the students are involved in the judicial system. Some have been expelled from public schools and others are gang affected. Counselors from Mainstream Youth Program will be on-site to do drug and alcohol counseling. The students first school day in the new building will be Monday, May 24. From 10am - 1pm that day, there will be a cookout for the students and staff, celebrating the new building.

The furniture for the building has been donated by U.S. Bank and an individual named Mike Maddox. The students are assisting with raising money and donations are being accepted to help defray some of the other costs. Students will attend school throughout the summer. Some will also attain work through O.O.I.'s employment program. Other services offered by O.O.I. include funds for employment documentation, transportation assistance, clothing and pre-employment training.
