

The Portland Observer 1994 Career MONTH Summer Jobs For Area Youth

The Private Industry Council is the largest summer employer of youth in Multnomah and Washington Counties.

This summer, it anticipates providing work experience, education, and employment opportunities to upwards of 2,000 youth through partnerships with the City of Portland, Portland Development Commission, Multnomah and Washington Counties, local school districts, community-based organizations, and others. All youth served through The Private Industry Council are low-income, and many are overcoming significant challenges on the road to becoming productive, contributing members of our community.

The positive activities these youth will be involved with this summer include:

A renovation project to fix up homes for low-income elderly persons in Washington County.

Integrated Curriculum Projects—projects focus on integrating studies in science, the arts, social studies, and basic skills with hands-on projects, including landscape and conservation, photography, video production, a building rehabilitation project, and mural projects.

Outdoor mural projects in Hillsboro, Forest Grove, and the City of Portland. Most murals will focus on "diversity" as a theme.

Third year students enrolled in our summer Training and Education Program will be involved in a number

An elderly low-income woman in North Portland gets some needed yard work done by youth employed by Metropolitan Family Services in a summer jobs program. The youngsters spend part of their work time learning subjects such as first-aid, English, personal finance and job hunting.

Northwest Film Center.

An apprenticeship program in science and engineering which will link youth with a full-time mentor during the summer months. The goal of this program will be to give youth engineering some pre-professional experience and an understanding of possible career options.

Up to 1,500 youth will be placed in individual work experiences at pub-

Counties. Work experiences will include assisting with clerical, childcare, healthcare, library, custodial, and classroom activities. In the past, youth have been placed in diverse work situations such as the Humane Society, Bureau of Land Management, Loaves & Fishes, and the Internal Revenue Service.

Is the lack of a down payment keeping you from owning a home?

American State Bank may be able to help you. We have just established a program to lower our standard required 20% down payment on conventional home loans to just 5% for qualifying low-income families.

If you have a good "track-record" of paying rent, a good credit history, are a low-income family, and have enough cash for a 5% down payment, you too could own your own home under this program.
