For All The Sentimental Reasons -
A New Nat King Cole Collection

Few, if any, can compare with the dynamic vocal styling of Nat King Cole and on October 18th Capitol Records will release a collection with 22 of Nat King Cole's greatest hits titled Nat King Cole: The Greatest Hits. With all 22 tracks digitally remastered, this collection will be available on both CD and cassette formats, containing a selection of timeless classics which have made Nat King Cole one of the most cherished vocalists of the twentieth century.

Hits begins and ends with two different versions of "Unforgettable." The first track is the original version Nat King Cole recorded in 1951, the last track is the 1993 smash hit version of "Unforgettable," a digitally mixed duet between the late Nat King Cole and his daughter Natalie Cole. Also included in this greatest hits package are his well known standards such as "Mona Lisa," "Straighten Up And Fly Right," "Nature Boy," "Ramblin' Rose" and "Walkin' My Baby Back Home" and "Send For Me," both conducted and arranged by Billy May, "Looking Back," "Somewhere

Along The Way," "(I Love You) For Sentimental Reasons," "Answer Me My Love," "Orange Colored Sky," featuring Stan Kenton and his orchestra, "Pretend" and "You Call It Madness (But I Call It Love)." Never before have all of Nat King Cole's greatest hits been available on one compilation. Nat King Cole: The Greatest Hits is the only single collection of his greatest hits available and is packaged with an elaborate metallic gold cover making this collection truly an "Unforgettable" treat for Nat King Cole fans.
