How To Guarantee Success In Life

BY ROBERT N. TAYLOR

While the word "guarantee" may be bit of an overstatement, it is indeed possible to greatly increase your chances of success and happiness in life by adopting certain critically important lifestyle principles. A review of the tactics and strategies used by successful people as well as conversations with motivation experts suggest the following principles should be incorporated into your life, regardless of age, education or income.

Clear Goals:

You must clearly and precisely know what it is you want to achieve. This is the only way to live an organized and purposeful life. Without clear goals which act to give purpose to our lives, we will tend to lack focus, fall easy prey to procrastination and be controlled by events instead of controlling them. In addition, your goals should be written down and they must be goals to which you are truly committed.

Imitate Success:

You do not have to re-invent the wheel. In the vast majority of instances, others have already traveled the road you are seeking to travel. Learn from them by reading their books, listening to their tapes and talking with them whenever you can. If you get a chance to talk to them, ask questions. Do not just talk about yourself and your aspirations. Use the opportunity to learn as much as you can. Finally, we encourage you to subscribe to the new nationally circulated success newsletter- Better Life News. For a free sample copy simply call 1-800-748-1821.
