OMSI Auction Hits Goal

Over a half million dollars was raised at the 1995 OMSI Auction held recently at the Portland Hilton Hotel.

The annual auction is the largest fundraiser for Oregon's premiere science museum and funds OMSI activities, education and exhibits.

Earmarked contributions include $16,000 to the OMSI Boys and Girls Science Club in north Portland and $5,700 in scholarships for students to attend OMSI programs.

"We're very excited about the success of this year's event," says Richard Alexander, event co-chair. "The sold-out Saturday gala shows the support for this wonderful museum and very worthy charity."

The Mardi Gras event gathered support from hundreds of businesses, organizations and volunteer groups throughout the state.

Boy Scout Troop 12 of Lake Oswego constructed containers for the festive floral centerpieces and Mark Johnson holds up his card to make a bid at the annual OMSI auction.

Portland State cheerleaders sold gift balloons.

The table decorations were auctioned to offset decoration expenses and remaining floral decorations were donated to Good Samaritan Hospital.

Outstanding volunteers were recognized, including George

Gardner, Rosanna Mysloni, Vicki Takahashi and Lynne Block.

"We really appreciate the hard work each volunteer contributes to the auction," said Cathleen Walker, event co-chair. "Without the thousands of hours of volunteer contributions, the event could never happen."

Fraud, Waste, And Abuse Hotline

State Auditor Don Waggoner today announced a new outreach effort to encourage citizens and government employees to report waste and mispending of tax dollars. A new "hotline" has been established for people to call and report information directly to the Audits Division. The 24-hour number is 1-800-336-8218.

Citizens may either leave information anonymously or leave their names, addresses and phone numbers so they can be contacted for additional information or follow-up.

Computer users may contact the Audits Division through the Internet address of:
