Seattle In AL Championship

The Major League Championship Series' begin Tuesday night in Seattle and Cincinnati.

The Cleveland Indians play the Seattle Mariners in the best-of-seven American League Championship Series and the Atlanta Braves meet the Cincinnati Reds in the National League Championship Series.

The Indians and Mariners are playing in the ALCS for the first time ever. Cleveland led the majors with 100 wins during the regular season and swept Boston three straight in the first round of the playoffs. The Mariners rallied from a two games to none deficit to beat the New York Yankees in a classic best-of-five playoff series. A two-run double by Edgar Martinez in the 11th inning lifted the Mariners to a 6-5 victory over the Yankees Sunday night in the decisive fifth game at the Kingdome.

Veteran Dennis Martinez is scheduled to start the series opener for the Indians. After having to pitch ace Randy Johnson in relief Sunday, the Mariners decided that rookie Bob Wolcott will be the team's starter for Game One.

The 22-year-old Wolcott was 3-2 with a 4.42 E-R-A in seven games (six starts) after being called-up from Triple-A Tacoma (6-3, 4.08 E-R-A) on August 18th. He began the year at Double-A Port City, where he went 7-3 with a 2.20 E-R-A in 12 starts. Wolcott was not originally on the post-season roster.

Hilton Remodel: "C'est Magnifique"

By CORA SMITH

A gala grand opening for the remodeled Portland Hilton Hotel was held Oct. 2. The benefit drew $110,000 which was presented to Dr. Peter O. Kohler, president of Oregon Health Science University on behalf of the new Doernbecher Children's Hospital.

The hotel renovation was proposed and produced through the efforts of Oregon's own Hilton Manger Serge D'Rovencourt. He is considered big on the who's who list of hotel and restaurant managers across the nation. A budget completion of phase two in remodeling costs was $25 million, ushering in a new and exciting chapter for Oregonians and visitors for an upscale hotel facility.

Recognized as the social and business hub of Portland, the Hilton's new lobby was breathtaking. Marble floors, beautiful sculptured furniture, not to mention the winding staircase which led to the plaza level unveiling the

Serge D'Rovencourt

VIP pavilion room, which will seat approximately 500 for dinner. The cathedral beamed ceiling was beautiful beyond words. The first phase saw the renovation of all 455 sleeping rooms, including two phones in every room, voice mail and data ports, new heating and air conditioning elegantly decorated throughout. Phase one also included a state of the art athletic club with an indoor pool, complete business center and the new Bistro 921 restaurant and bar.

Seen attending the reception were Harry Merlo and friends, Ron Wyden and Normal Paulus (who will be our next Senator?) who was wearing the perfect back dinner suit. Cinda and Peter Hoffman were there, she was wearing a disguised mink coat, yet another perfect black suit which was form fitting and slightly short at the knees. Gerald Frank hosted the event - and introduced special guests, the Gov. and Mrs. Kitzhaber, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, Mayor Vera Katz, Mr. Dieter Huckenstein, president and Mr. Hilmar Rosenast, senior vice president of the Hilton Hotels Corp. Gerald Franks' enormous responsibility was the "shhh" the patrons who number 1,200.

Roy Jay and his wife Velva were there, he was commemorated in the People Painting in the entrance of the 921 Bistro Restaurant and Bar.

Woody Hite's big band music sound was highlighted among the many stations of food and extravagant delights. Pasta stations with chefs on sight tossed beautiful food, wines from everywhere flowed like water.

The little black suit was an incredible success, embraced by gold and pearls accessories. The men's wear, oh hum... traditional expensive! The celebration was definitely a salute to Serge D'Rovencourt. With his vision, generosity and dedication, this event was made possible. Serge as always was perfectly suited and sported a dashing tie.

The north/northeast community salutes his efforts and looks forward to holding and attending businesses and social events there. The gala was entirely underwritten by the Hilton. Serge we thank you and salute you.

Fashion Focus Fall 1995

By CORA SMITH

In the spotlight were fountains of fresh seafood and decadently delicious chocolates, enjoyed by champagne and wine sipping patrons for the breast cancer education program of the National Black Leadership Initiative on Cancer, Oregon chapter.

The event's mission was to raise $10,000. The primary sponsors were Meier & Frank and the Portland Trail Blazers Wives, together with Fashin Fair Cosmetics. Seen nibbling appetizers at the downtown Meier and Frank store Georgian Room reception were model Felicia Robertson, Linda Grice, Lynda Overton, "Cleo," and Ginny and Bev of the Oregonian. Chatting with friends prior to the fashion show were Tonda McFerran, Rica Brooks (Ms. LeFemmes), Jeri Ward and Pan Cross.

A scene stealer was Kay Toran wearing a brilliant dazzling, red dress. The Delta Society were out in full force, seen was Gail Washington Johnson, Addie Jean Haynes and Vera Poole. Theresa W. Stoudamire was happily promoting Breast Cancer Awareness Month to increase interest in reducing the risks of breast cancer. A fun way to raise awareness is "to remind friends, call a friend and tell a friend." For additional information, Stoudamire suggested calling 295-3434.

Arnetta, Derrick and Fawn McDaniels (the annual Gathering), Julius Evans, planning committee, Joan Bowman, Joe Tony (jewelry with a smile), were also there.

Nordstrom and Meier & Frank staff supported the event wearing perfect "work to reception suits" - splashes of jewel tones to the almighty naval loyals and executive black suits as worn by store manager Debbie Jones. Fashions were a bit of everything. Joy Wallace, Consuelo Vacquez, Felicia Elmore and Delores Johnson were there.

The perfect pinstripe suit was worn by David Miller, vice president of advertising and promotion for Meier & Frank. Al Cooley, world known jazz pianist visiting Portland to perform at the Waverly Country Club to benefit the Doernbecher Children's Hospital, was there along with pals Howard Hedinger and model Juanita Wydan and Mark and Dottie Johnson.

Looking the role of beautiful skin was the regional director from San Jose, Calif., fashion fair representative Christian Boaz who presented each patron with a lovely pin "a symbol of caring to fight the breast cancer epidemic."

Michelle Simone, special events coordinator, was the busiest and expressed excitement for the full house.

A gracious Mari Harter, president of the Trail Blazer Wives organization, spoke about this 3rd annual event and the recent "Race for the Cure" that attracted approximately 18,000 women.

Curtain Call produced beloved Trail Blazer Bill Schonley, "the voice," as event master of ceremonies, opened with tall jazz musicians with vocalist Mario DePriest who charmed the Trail Blazer Wives with the song "Lady Luck." Looking good were Sonja Hanley, Mari Harter, Ceing Smith, Lezli Davis, Candice Paxton, Beverly Grand, Cathy Rice, Mimi Williams and Erin Jensen.

The designer clothes from

Meier & Frank's Washington Square store were fabulous - designers such as Jones of New York, for both women and men, as well as Liz Claiborne, Ellen Tracy, DKNY Essentials, Valarie Stevens, Kasper and Maggie London, Ralph Lauren, Tommy Hilfiger, Marvin Richard Coats, Ann Klein and Jessica McClintock.

The colors of fall very much in command, wheat, barley, rust, and tan. In suede and woolsens were the great cashmere sweaters, plus blends of Cordovan to dark brown jackets. Continuing to reign are leggings and master of all - the very important vest. Out front were the warm fashionable scarves and logger plaids. Prints in jackets and shirts were on target. It's raining, it's pouring, lightning strikes and for stormy weather there was the great raincoat - black in color with optional sprinkles of brown.

Also great news were new hat shapes, the jean scene - funky with the perfect fit jean accessorized with the new glossy fabric shirt. This show also featured good looking men models, and they all had perfect short haircuts.

The simple black dress was a winner, however, the sophisticated red and black suit scene left everyone applauding. Judi Hofer, president/CEO of Meier & Frank, wore a smashing black pleated skirt suit. Trail Blazer wife Mimi Williams looked stunning in a black sequin dress with grey armlets on the shoulders - plus a cute haircut. Geneva Knauls, a member of NBLIC and herself a cancer survivor was there with her husband Paul Knauls sporting his white pandora hat.

With fashion savvy and a perfect body to match, a gold fluorescent evening dress by Adrianna Papel was worn - a complete knockout without question. She was charmed by six male models who enfolded her with yellow roses. Needless to say the audience were waiting to catch them.

The lighting and music sound system made for a fabulous event. The Trail Blazer wives looked exquisite in evening wear as well as their husbands concluding this year's "Fashion Focus Fall 1995."

Excuse me I forgot to mention the succulent fried chicken with honey, de-li-cious. We'll definitely return next year.
