Food Donations For Families

Two 40-foot trailer trucks of food and cash donations worth $84,694 were recently delivered to the Portland Police Bureau's Sunshine Division.

The donations by United Grocers and Western Family Foods were collected from United Grocers member stores that participated in a Have A Heart Food Drive.

"Food donations are needed all year," said Bob Tobin, program coordinator at the Sunshine Division. "Thanks to people like those at United Grocers, we are able to meet the needs of the families in the community throughout the year."

The Sunshine Division provides temporary emergency relief to needy Portland families by distributing food supplies and other necessities.

About 400 food boxes are assembled every month. Each food box contains basic non-perishables to provide balanced meals. A family of

Housing Troubles Locals

According to city officials, Multnomah County has experienced a dramatic increase in poverty and consequently, in homelessness in the past decade.

For the past years, many programs promising low-income affordable housing have jumped into the market to help stem the buying out of north-east Portland.

Limited resources have hindered low-income housing agencies like PDC Homestead, Habitat for Humanity, Host, and NECDC Nehemiah from fulfilling their goals.

And critics are divided over the ability of these programs to help the situation.
