Young Artists To Perform At St. Mary's Cathedral

St. Mary's Cathedral will host the Young Artists Concert series beginning Sunday, March 17, at 7:00 p.m. Nicholas Crosa, violinist, and Andrew Brownell, pianist, will perform. The series is sponsored by the Archdiocese of Portland as part of its sesquicentennial celebration. The Young Artist Concert series is being held in conjunction with the Catholic Scholars series on the Church in the Third Millennium, which will start at 8:00 p.m. on March 17, at St. Mary's Cathedral.

Nicholas Crosa is a student at Tualatin High School. He is Concertmaster of the Portland Youth Philharmonic and first violinist of the Fidelius String Quartet. He studies violin with Carol Sindell of Portland State University and Dorothy De Lay of the Julliard School of Music in New York.

Homegoing Expressions

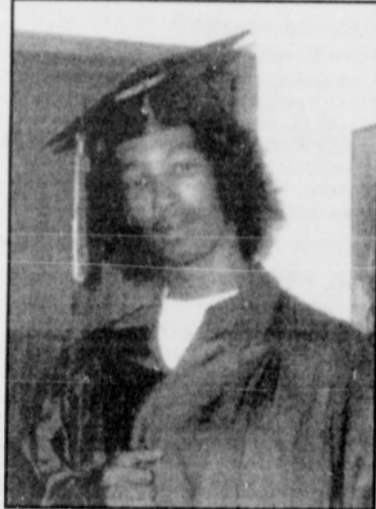

Deontae Joseph Keller, born May 24th, 1975

to the legal birthright of Rhonda E. Henry and Joseph D. Keller, a.k.a. Joe (Bean) Keller (with paradox genes of Ray Jacobs).

Throughout Deontae's life he was known for a charming smile, soft personality and his fun loving ways. As a kid he always wanted to take charge, he was the little man. When his brother Demarcus was born, Deontae bonded with him immediately. He would always want to hold him and take him anywhere he went.

As a youngster tumbling after his father, he began teaching it to his brother. Deontae, sometimes living with his grandmother Myrtle Henry, attended King Elementary School where he took up video production. During beginning high school years Deontae and Demarcus moved to San Jose, California where they lived with their Grandma Keller and Aunt Liz. Deontae and his brother moved back to Portland after a couple of years where he returned to Jefferson High. Deontae did not complete his senior high school year. He instead eventually, after a period of time decided to try the Job Corps in Idaho where he stayed for a short time. Returning to Portland he hung-out for a while looking for employment and a way to survive the tough time of life that our young people have today.

Deontae, at the age of 19 decided that he was he was ready to go back to school. He didn't want to settle for a G.E.D. he said "Dad, I want to walk across the stage with a cap and gown on". He then enrolled in school at P.O.I.C. where he achieved his goal in the summer of 1995. He walked the stage smiled to the people and told himself "I did it". Deontae just a week or so ago completed his pre-job training program. If he were here today he would probably be at work right now. Deontae also recently went to church with his step-grandmother Audrey Henry, where I know he made his peace with God.

Edwin O'Hara, A Dynamic Historical Influence

The Catholic Scholar Series on the Church in the Third Millennium, part of the Archdiocese of Portland's sesquicentennial celebration, continues with a presentation by Monsignor Tim Dolan. The scholar series is one of the events commemorating the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Archdiocese of Portland.

Monsignor Dolan's presentation will be "Edwin O'Hara: A model for episcopal leadership." Monsignor Dolan's talk will be presented on Sunday, March 17 at 8:00 p.m., at St. Mary's Cathedral, Portland. His presentation in Portland will be preceded at 7:00 by the Archdiocesan sponsored Young Artists Program. Nick Crosa, violin and Andrew Brownell, piano, will perform. Monsignor Dolan will repeat his talk on Monday, March 18, at 8:00 p.m. at St. Mary's Church in Eugene.

Born September 6, 1881, near Lanesboro, MN, Edwin V. O'Hara was ordained a priest for the Archdiocese of Oregon City, and began priestly ministry in Portland at the Cathedral Parish of the Immaculate Conception. His life was one of creative leadership. Father O'Hara founded the Catholic Education Association of Oregon in 1907. While at the Catholic University of America in 1910, he researched the Catholic history of Oregon. In 1911 Father O'Hara published Pioneer Catholic History of Oregon. That same year he was appointed Pastor of Portland's Cathedral parish. In 1912, he was active in promoting fair wages for working women in Portland, and was appointed chairman of the Oregon Consumer's League Committee on Women's Unemployment. He was appointed by Governor Oswald West as chairman of the Industrial Welfare Commission in 1913. The commission was to uphold the recently signed Minimum Wage Law, which Father O'Hara had helped to write. This law was eventually upheld by the Oregon State Supreme Court and the United States Supreme Court.

In addition to social justice and labor rights, Father O'Hara is considered the founding influence for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine education programs. These educational programs, for students not enrolled in Catholic schools, now include more than 13,000 students in Western Oregon and more than 4.1 million students in the United States. He also served as Superintendent of Catholic Schools in Western Oregon.

A Global Resistance Against The Knowledge Of God!

BY M. ISAACS

There is a concentrated effort among nations to wipe out all knowledge of God and to eliminate his name from among the people. There is a time of evil to come, appointed by God—to turn over to arrogant men the desires of their hearts. One by one the evil desires of vain men assail the earth; homosexuals arise, abortion clinics flourish; prayers are hindered or halted, made unlawful in public gatherings; war and atrocities in divers places; son rise against fathers and daughters against mothers; unlawful cohabitation; children reared in ungodly homes; children sexually mutilated and slaughtered; and disasters of nature are hastened by the ignorance of men with their careless treatment of the elements and environment; foolishly destroying the land God created to sustain and maintain the bodies in which we reside. Fear invades the land and wicked men rule the people. All nations will rise against Jerusalem, because it will represent God among men. Zech. KJV.

The battle is joined; the invasion of evil is moving at a rapid pace and those not fully grounded in a firm belief in God and his eternal plan are full of fear, unhinged, lost as sheep without a shepherd; weak in mind and spirit, full of hate and envy and prone to violence. Disease brought about by the vileness of men claim untold lives; yet man continues, pell mell, in his abominable ways. Only fools would continue in the way of destruction; making excuses, demanding rights, accusing others; refusing to take responsibility for the decay and spiritual pollution of the body and mind.

Yes, man is wiser and more evil and the pattern and world preparation for the appearance of the anti-christ is preceding at a rapid pace. Ye that have eyes, let him see; Ye that have ears, let him hear what God's signs make apparent and what God's servants are preaching. There are no secrets regarding the outcome of this battle between the evil one and Jesus, the Son of God. The exact time of the coming of Jesus and his army is known only to Jehovah God; for no man knows the limit of the patience of God; no man knows, as yet, the full wrath of God. We taste the edges of God's wrath with the floods, earthquakes, snows in summer, ice storms, droughts, strange behavior among the animals and strange cults among men. The guilt of men, the sins of man must be atoned and preparation is in place for this atonement; but man hardens his heart and blindly follows the destructive way; and evil one prevails for a time.

Meet Moses At The Mittleman Jewish Community Center

The Mittleman Jewish Community Center, and Hadassah are sponsors of a special Passover family event. The third annual "Freedom Treasure Hunt: A Walk Through Seder Experience" will be on Sunday March 31, 1996 from 1-3 p.m.

Passover, which this year begins on Thursday April 4 ends on Thursday April 11, celebrates the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt over 3,000 years ago. The name, Passover, is take from the Exodus story: "During the 10th ultimate plague, which convinced the Pharaoh to free the Jews, God passed over the Israelites and struck down only the Egyptians' first born. The Jews fled Egypt in such haste, there was not time for the read they had prepared to rise. Today Jews commemorate this by eating Matzah unleavened bread) during Passover week. Passover is celebrated by sharing a traditional meal called a Seder (order) on the first and second nights. At the Seder we read the story of Passover from the Haggadah and eat special foods.

Participants at the "Freedom Treasure Hunt" will have the opportunity to meet Moses; cross the Red Sea; make a Seder plate (traditional plate used during the Passover meal); tie-dye Matza covers; plant parsley; and make Haroset (ritual food made with apples, nuts and wine representing the mortar used to make the pyramids). Featured this year will be the Sweets, Etc. who will provide event-goers with the opportunity to make dip matzah in chocolate.

Gate fees for "Freedom Treasure Hunt" are, Adults - $2, children - $1, ($8 maximum/family) for MJCC and Hadassah members; non-members: Adults - $4 is located at 6651 SW Capitol Hwy., Portland Or. Contact Eliana Temkin at 244-0111 for info.
