Albina Head Start Families Participate in a Six Week Cooking and Nutrition Class Albina Head Start and Share Our Strength-Operation Front Line work together to bring nutrition and food preparation information to families. Albina Head Start families participate in a six week cooking and nutrition class. During each class guest chefs demonstrate how to prepare nutritious, low fat and low budget meals. At the end of each class participants receive a bag of groceries with items needed to prepare the same meal at home for their families. During the fifth (5) class parents and chefs take a field trip to a local Fred Meyers store to shop and learn hands on money saving ideas. This field trip is sponsored by Meyer Trust. The final class is a potluck meal prepared by parents using the knowledge and information they received during class. Above L-R: Marlina Curtis, Megale and Jamie Lindon. Below L-R: Janet Summerville (Chefs) Richard Rodgers and Peter Roscoe.
