Portland Hosts Spirit of Pentecost Crusade Sept. 21

An Apostolic earthquake, the Spirit of Pentecost Crusade, sponsored by the Oregon District and Home Mission Division of the United Pentecostal Church International (UPCI), will hit Portland at 5 p.m. Sunday, Sept 21, at the DoubleTree Inn, Jantzen Beach.

"The Spirit of Pentecost Crusade is designed to promote revival and evangelism on a large scale with the specific goal of seeing many individuals experience Acts 2:38 salvation," said Rev. M. David Johnson, Oregon District, UPCI, superintendent and pastor of the Albany United Pentecostal Church. Rev. W.H. "Billy" Cole, pastor, author and internationally acclaimed evangelist from Charleston, WV., will be Crusade speaker.

"Around the world, the Lord has used Rev. Billy Cole to help hundreds of thousands have faith to receive the Holy Ghost. We expect God to manifest Himself in a miraculous way during this city-wide, one-day crusade through healing, deliverance and other miracles. Portland and the entire state will never be the same. The Portland Spirit of Pentecost Crusade is an answer to The Great Commission" as well as an answer to many community problems. "A 175-voice choir, accompanied by musicians from UPC churches in Oregon City and Medford, has been assembled by Crusade Music Coordinator Donna Gleason of Oregon City. The choir, featuring talented singers from UPC churches throughout Oregon, will begin singing at 4 p.m.

"Planning for the Crusade began in January," Rev. Johnson explained. "The Portland Crusade will involve hundreds of individuals from Oregon district churches and also UPC churches in southwest Washington state.

There are 10 outdoor billboards throughout the Portland - Vancouver metropolitan areas including one North of Salem inviting everyone to the Crusade.

There is salvation and healing for this generation.

We believe this will be the beginning of a great revival in the Pacific Northwest."

Meet Your Decision Makers -

"The Human Side Of Local Politics"

OASIS (Older Adult Service & Information Service) announces a free education series featuring the City Council members and Multnomah County Commissioners.

Each session features a politician who will discuss his or her job and answer questions from the audience. The 10-week lecture series was developed with the cooperation of our local government officials and is the brainchild of OASIS volunteer, Irving Lieberman. Mr. Lieberman, who also serves on the OASIS Advisory Council, made personal visits to each featured politician's office and believes, "it is the responsibility of all citizens to learn what they can, stay involved, informed and active. Particularly, in later years when adults have left behind the demands of career and may have fewer family obligations, they have a unique opportunity to spend the time it takes to consider the issues carefully. Besides that," Irv jokes, "it is good exercise for the brain which is something I care about."

All older adults are invited to attend the free lectures beginning Friday morning, September 26, from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and continuing through Friday, November 21st. An additional afternoon lecture is planned at 1:30 p.m. on November 14th. Pre-registration guarantees seating and can be made by phone, 241-3059. (Registration for groups is required.)

OASIS is located at the Meier & Frank downtown store on the 10th floor. Meier & Frank is a sponsor of the 15,000-member organization with Legacy Health System, Regence BlueCross BlueShield of Oregon and The OASIS Institute of St. Louis. OASIS is one of other education centers located in 28 cities across the country providing education seniors in cultural, humanities and health/wellness topics.
