Best Pursuits Win

The 1997 State Management Association's 1997 Annual Conference will mark the first presentations of the group's newly created Award for Excellence program.

One individual, one workgroup, and six agencies are being recognized for their achievements.

This program, modeled after the successful Oregon Quality Awards, celebrates the "pursuit of excellence" and encourages high performance levels for state agencies and employees through evaluation and recognition.

Those being recognized are:

Leadership - Kay Dean Toran, Administrator, State Services to Children and Families Division, Strategic Planning - Oregon Employment Department, Customer Focus and Satisfaction - Oregon State Police, Information and Analysis - Department of Consumer and Business Services, Organizational Results - Adult and Family Services Division, Affirmative Action - Oregon Youth Authority.

Also recognized is the Community Partnership Team of the Department of Human Resources. This work group will receive the "Judges' Award," a recognition offered for overall excellence or outstanding efforts.

A special award dubbed "On the Threshold of Great Things" is being presented to the Oregon Youth Authority in the category of Organizational Results.

The State Management Association is a professional organization of state managers, executives, and agency heads. SMA's focus is excellence in public service and collaborative leadership.
