

Mayor Vera Katz

"The principles that are important to me are that our entire community shares in the wealth and assets of our city, that all our community live in a safe and peaceful neighborhood, that all of our children are educated to compete in a global economy."

"The hurts of racism, like all hurts, are healed slowly. Ultimately, reconciliation must take place between the aggrieved persons and the perpetrators of injustice. In the Catholic community, we celebrate a sacrament called Reconciliation. It always involves an admission of fault, an expression of sorrow and some spiritual act of reparation. I suspect these are also necessary for us to deal with the secular malaise which remains as a result of past injustices. For genuine reconciliation to occur, both sides must participate. An apology is offered, forgiveness is an appropriate, although not always an easy response."

- Archbishop Vlazny

...sadly crippled by the manacles of segregation and the chains of discrimination; one hundred years later, the Negro lives on a lonely island of poverty in the midst of a vast ocean of material prosperity; one hundred years later, the Negro is still languished in the corners of American society and finds himself in exile in his own land.

So we've come here today to dramatize a shameful condition. In a sense we've come to our nation's capital to cash a check. When the architects of our republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to which every American was to fall heir. This note was the promise that all men, yes, black men...
