According to investigators, in August 1996, the Bohanans ran ads soliciting financial backing for a concert they said would be a fund raising benefit for a children's hospital in Portland. The Bohanans received money from numerous people, including one man who gave $70,000. But as everyone who gave the Bohanans money learned, the fund raising concert that was to benefit the children's hospital was nothing more than a scam. In fact, the Bohanans had never even been in contact with the children's hospital.

LaCenter Community Tree Planting Seeks Volunteers

Clark County Conservation District, and Vancouver-Clark Parks and Recreation Department will sponsor a Community Tree Planting at the LaCenter Bottoms Wetland. The planting will be Saturday, April 4, from 9:30 a.m. until noon.

Volunteers will meet at the LaCenter Wastewater Treatment Plant parking lot below First Independent Bank. Bring gloves and a shovel if possible.

The project will provide the restoration of an existing wetland with planting of native trees and shrubs. The plants will aid in bettering water quality by cooling and filtering the water and enticing wildlife to return to the wetland area. For more information call Phil Oaks at 696-8171.

Parks and Recreation Department offers Spring Sports

Vendors Still Have Chance At Senior Trade Fair

There is still room for a few more vendors at the third annual Senior Trade Fair.

Businesses wanting to promote their products or services to the local senior community should contact the Retired Senior and Volunteer Program at 696-8221. The trade fair is Friday, April 17, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Marshall Center, 1009 E. McLoughlin. Admission is free.

Last year's Senior Trade Fair drew over 1,200 seniors. The Trade

Fair benefits the Retired and Senior Volunteer Program.

It is co-sponsored by The Senior Messenger, Vancouver Business Journal, Hi-School Pharmacy, KVAN 1550, C-TRAN and The Columbian.
