The Children

On the first day of the sit-ins, in Nashville, Tennessee, eight young black college students found themselves propelled into the leadership of the civil rights movement, as the movement and America entered a period of dramatic change. The courage and vision of these young people changed history. David Halberstam, a twenty-five year old reporter, was assigned to cover this story...The Children is David Halberstam's brilliant and moving evocation of the early days of the civil rights movement, as seen through the story of the young people—the Children—who met in the 1960's and went on to lead the revolution. Magisterial in scope, with a strong you-are-there quality, The Children is a story one of America's preeminent journalists has waited years to write, a powerful book about one of the most dramatic moments in recent American history.

The Children bears the trademark qualities that have made David Halberstam one of the leading nonfiction writers of our era. The Children is his most personal book since The Best and the Brightest, a magnificent recreation of a unique period in America, and of the lives of the ordinary people whose courage and vision changed history.

Raven-Symone Stars Opposite Eddie Murphy In Her First Feature Film "Dr. Dolittle"

"I actually got to play with ravens," says Raven-Symone who stars opposite Eddie Murphy in her first feature film, 20th Century Fox's "Dr. Dolittle." The film will premiere in theaters around the country on June 26, 1998.

Raven-Symone plays the role of Charise, Dr. Dolittle's (Eddie Murphy) daughter. Dr. Dolittle is a zany physician with a quirky talent. He possesses the ability to communicate with animals. Charise is his progressively funky and outrageous daughter who will do anything to get her father's attention. In fact, as Dr. Dolittle becomes increasingly preoccupied with his menagerie, Charise ultimately changes her name to Paprika in hopes of a reaction.

A show business veteran, Raven-Symone who is now 12 years old, debuted her acting career at age 3 as the adorable "Olivia" on NBC's hit sitcom, The Cosby Show. Her television career continued as a series regular on ABC's Hanging With Mr. Cooper. Also, an accomplished singer and performer, Raven became the first young solo act to sign with MCA records at age 5.
