Motorcycle Accident

Multnomah County Sheriff's Office patrol Deputies were dispatched to a motorcycle accident on west bound Interstate 84 at 3:41 on July 14, 1998. Upon their arrival the Deputies found the wreckage of a blue Honda Goldwing 1500 tour type motorcycle. They also found the driver, a male adult and the passenger, a female adult near the wreckage. The accident occurred in the west bound lanes near mile marker 24. The driver died at the scene after rescue crews attempted advanced CPR and lifesaving techniques. The passenger was rushed to Emmanuel Hospital in critical condition where she remains.

Witnesses said they saw the bike traveling west bound at the speed of traffic when it began wobbling out of control and crashed. Preliminary evidence at the scene indicates to the Deputies that the motorcycle had a tire blow out and was the cause of the accident. The Multnomah County Interagency Crash Investigation team is investigating the accident.

The deceased driver has been identified as 47 year old Frank S. Simmons and the passenger as 63 year old Barbara F. Simmons. Both are from Hingham, Massachusetts. Mr. Simmons was a reserved police officer for the Hingham Police Department at the time of his death.

Man Identified In Early Morning Homicide At The El Moro Apartment Complex

The victim of the homicide at the El Moro apartment complex, 2016 SE 122nd Ave., has been identified as Ausencio Genchi Garcia, a 27 year old male who is a resident of Portland. Garcia was apparently visiting with residents at an apartment in the complex. The investigators believe that the homicide of Garcia may be a continuation of an argument, which started earlier in the evening at the apartments. Multiple gunshots were fired and the victim died of apparent gunshot wounds.

Last Friday, July 10, an overflow crowd of well wishers, friends and relatives showed their appreciation and support of the Roosevelt School District's decision to name its 20th and newest school after lifelong Phoenix resident, Cloves C. Campbell, Sr. by attending the groundbreaking ceremony at the site of the future school.

With the temperature well above the 100 degree mark it became evident that the warmth and affection of the crowd was as equally to blame (for the heat) as was the sun itself. Many came by just to say hello and shake the hand of the man who has given the majority of his life to the south Phoenix community.

"This turnout," stated one man as he tried to squeeze into the crowded shaded area of the tent, "shows that the Roosevelt School District made a good decision in choosing one of its own (Campbell is a product of the district) to name a school after."

Roosevelt District Superintendent, Dr. John Baracy, in his remarks stated that the naming of a school is the highest honor that the District can bestow on an individual.

He noted that schools have been named after Presidents of the United States and Senators.

The ceremony was emceed by Roosevelt School District Board Member Linda Armstead, who was a key player in getting the board to name the school after Campbell, Fellow board members Norma Munoz (President) and Carlos Avelar, along with Superintendent Baracy addressed the crowd. In paying homage to Campbell, Dr. Baracy stated that "C" in Cloves C. Campbell could easily stand for Character, Courage or Commitment, all characteristics of the man.

City Councilman Cody Williams, addressing the group, painted a verbal picture of Campbell as a loving father and family man from which he has learned so much. He thanked Campbell for his contributions to the community and to himself in particular.

Governor Jane Dee Hull read a resolution honoring Campbell as did Rep. David Armstead. Campbell took the podium and after showing appreciation for the honors that were being bestowed on him, began speaking about education. He talked about how he and his four brothers and sisters were orphaned at an early age. He remembered that his mother, before passing away, always taught her children that getting a good education was the key. He was proud to tell the audience that all of his brothers and sisters heeded their mother's words, and are college graduates.

The audience was a regular, Who's Who in the political circles. Heading the list in attendance was the Governor Jane Dee Hull, with State Representatives David Armstead and Art Hamilton, hopefuls Maurice Ward and Leah Landurm, Judge Pam Gutierrez, Constable Clarice Davis, City Councilman Cody Williams, NAACP President Oscar Tillman, Phoenix Police Administrator Gerald P. Administrator Gerald P. Richards II, Esq., Maricopa County School Superintendent Sandra Dowling and the afore-mentioned Roosevelt School District Board Members.

The Cloves C. Campbell Elementary School will be located at 2624 South Mountain Avenue, Phoenix. The 80,000 square foot structure will serve the district's east side. It will house a full size gym and multi-purpose building, computer science labs and library. It will open in the fall of 1999 and will cater to about 800 students.

Clark County holds Photo Safety Radar news briefing

On August 3, 1998, the Sheriff's Office will begin operating its new Photo Safety Radar equipment on the streets and roads of unincorporated Clark County. Operated out of a van by a trained Sheriff's deputy, the radar instantly captures evidence of traffic violations on film as they occur.

Speeders traveling higher than the established speed threshold are detected by a low-powered microwave beam transmitted across the road. This triggers the camera to take an image that clearly shows the driver's face, vehicle model, and license plate.
