THE ALL-1

AVAILABLE AT FINE MAX STATION

Tri-Met. Now with expanded Westside service.

Roust the kids and wake the neighbors. MAX is rounding the bend and about to roll into Hillsboro. Yes, it's the greatest transportation achievement to hit Portland since, well, the opening of Eastside MAX. And, as if adding 18 miles of MAX track isn't enough, we're also increasing our bus service. All in all, Tri-Met is expanding transit on the westside by 46%. So getting from here to there, and everywhere in between, will be a lot easier. In other words, it's time to get on board.

If you're a Tri-Met bus rider, take heed.

Westside bus service is changing. Not all, but enough of it so that if you ride, you should check the chart and map to the right. Fares will also change on September 1st. Generally speaking, some new routes will take you to MAX. Other routes will shuttle you between MAX and large employers. And more buses than ever will travel
