

METRO Life

The Portland Observer SECTION B

Community Calendar

Indigenous Elders

The third in the Natural Way workshop series, featuring Native American and other indigenous elders, will take place December 4th at 7:30 PM at Unity Healing Center in Lake Oswego, 366 Third Street. The series provides a unique opportunity to learn about caring for our planet from representatives of a people who managed and maintained their world well for more than 50,000 years. Call 657-4839 or 452-4483.

Book Signing

A book signing by poetess Rochell Hart will be held at the Interstate Firehouse Cultural Center on December 6th at 6:30 PM. For more details, contact Vickie Hart at 289-6673 or 220-8262 Pg. 103 (work no.).

Holiday Craftmaking

Kids can learn how to make Beeswax Candles for Kwanzaa, Hanukkah and Christmas. This workshop is offered at A Teacher's Space (2755 NE Broadway in Portland) The cost is $10. For more information, call 503/288-3577.

Jingle Bell Run & Walk

On Sunday, December 6th, 2000 running santas, walking Christmas trees & trotting little reindeer are expected to pack Portland's downtown city streets. This historical event will mark the 13th Annual Jingle Bell Run & Walk for Arthritis. The Portland run will feature an after race party, vendor expo & awards ceremony. Call 503/222-7246.

Food Donations

The Boy Scouts of the Cascade Pacific Council will collect food door-to-door in Portland on Saturday, December 5th. The food will be distributed by Oregon Food Bank to local hunger-relief agencies. Most wanted foods include canned meats boxed pasta or potato meals, canned fruit and vegetables, beans and peanut butter. If you wish to make a donation, call the Oregon Food Bank at 282-0555.

"Spirit On The Boulevard"

Bring your friends and neighbors to the "Spirit of the Boulevard", a festival of events from December 4-6 where there will be a lighting of a Christmas tree as part of the opening ceremony on December 4th at 6 PM. Call 284-3093.

Healthy Holiday Eating

Keep your sanity and your health during the holidays with healthy eating for the whole family. Learn how your food choices affect your life at a free clinic on Saturday, December 5, from 12-4 PM at Natural Health Center-East, of the National College of Naturopathic Medicine (11231 SE Market). Call 255-7355, ext.0 for an appointment.

Christmas Choral

The Choir and Handbells of Concordia University will present their annual celebration of The Service of Nine Lessons and Carols. Several events will be held at St. Michael's Lutheran Church (NE 29th & Dekum) on Saturday, December 5th and Sunday, December 6th. Call the University's Department of Performing and Visual Arts at 503/493-8614. Free-will offering.

Power Players Served Thanksgiving Day Meal at Salvation Army Harbor Light Center

On Wednesday, Nov. 25, the Portland Power players and coaches served a Thanksgiving Day dinner to the area's homeless from 3-5 p.m. at the Salvation Army Harbor Light Center.

All 11 players, as well as coaches Lin Dunn and Missy Bequette seated people and served a traditional meal, as well as interacted with the homeless at Harbor Light Center. The center is located at 30 SW 2nd Avenue, but the entrance is on Ankeny Street.

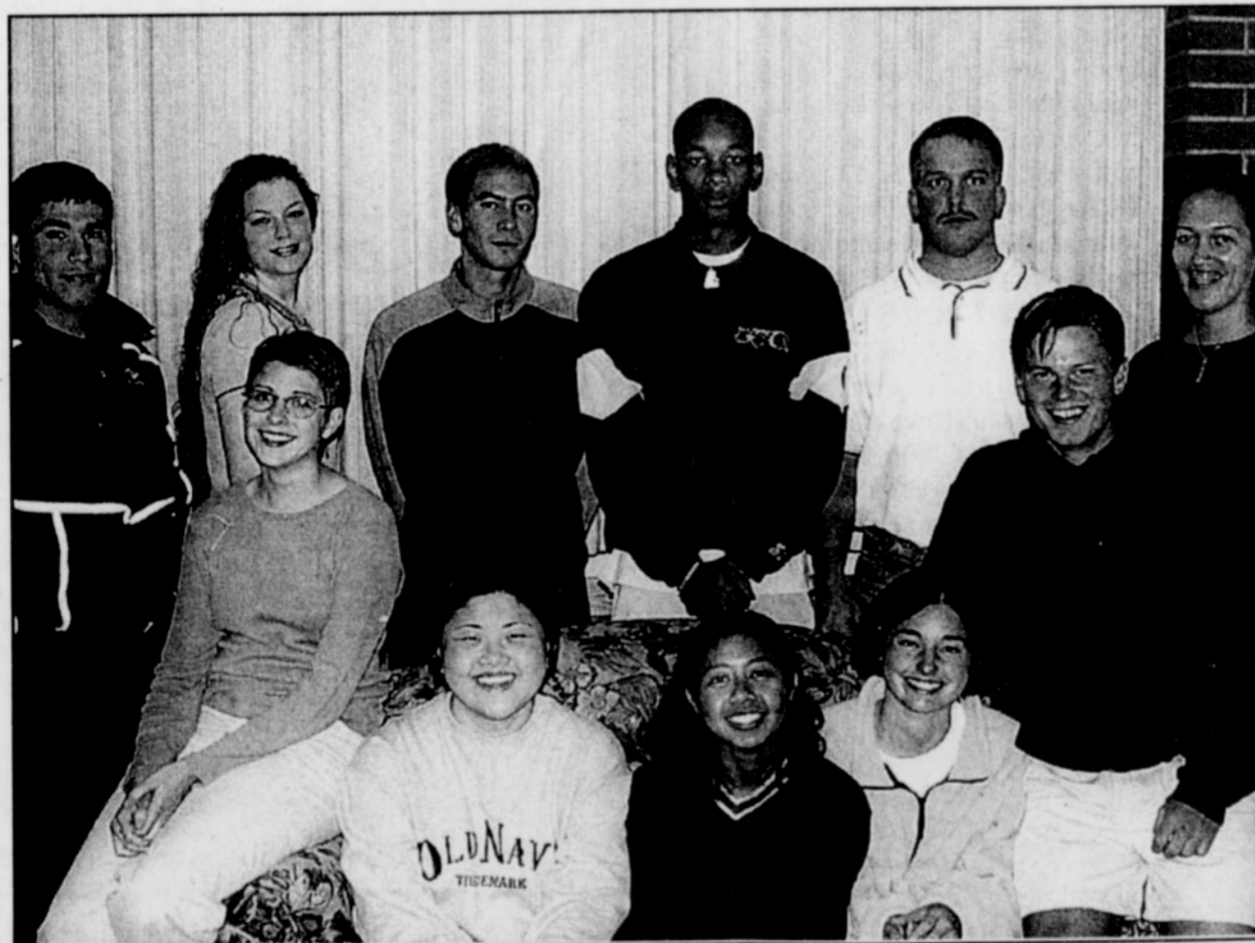

It is the first time in the Power's three years that the team served a Thanksgiving meal to the homeless, and is an extension of the Power's care for and activity in the community. To date, Power players and staff have made upwards of 80 public appearances since mid-August.

The Power have won three straight games, including a 76-70 win over New England, and a 91-83 win over San Jose on Friday and Saturday of the past weekend. Portland's Natalie William's is the American Basketball League's leading scorer and second-leading scorer, as well as being the defending league most valuable player.

Power's Katy Steding (Left) was one of many players on hand to serve on Thanksgiving Day

Innovations Unlimited:

Front Row (L to R) Jan Osborn, Patty Im, Kelyc Asuncion, Susie Weber, Scott Heuston. Back Row (L to R) Fernando Sanchez, Tina Quarles, David Rummel, Anthony Boyd, Jeff Inman, and Corey Robertson.

Pacific University Students Team up With Local Business for Internship

11 Pacific University Business students are participating in the Generals Motors marketing internship (GMMI). GMMI is a national educational program that allows students to apply textbook knowledge to real life situations by forming a partnership between the university and a local Chevrolet dealer.

The student's main objective is to raise public awareness about their sponsor, Bruce Chevrolet of Hillsboro, and its products. Bruce Chevrolet provides a budget to create a marketing plan and implement a promotional event. Proceeds raised at the event will be donated to the meals on wheels charity.

"NIKE Plans To Move Outlet Store"

By LEE PEARLMAN

The Nike outlet store is moving to a new location four blocks to the south on Northeast Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard.

Representative Rob Groscup and architect Amy Donohue told the Eliot Neighborhood Association land use committee last week that the athletic shoe and apparel company plans to build a new 18,000 square foot store, with an 80-space parking lot, on the block between Northeast Russell and Knott streets. The one-acre parcel was the former site of a storage facility that burned down two years ago.

Groscup later noted that although there is an agreement in principle with the Lampus family, the property owners, the purchase has not been finalized. This is expected by month's end, he said.

The company's existing 10,000 square foot facility at 3044 N.

E. [®] Martin Luther King Jr. Blvd. is "bursting at the seams," Groscup said. The new location will provide a greater inventory for the public. However, he said, "We do not plan to expand" the 30-person sales force now working at the store.

The new building will be two stories and 32 feet tall, Donohue said. It will have a brick facade, a bronze-colored aluminum roof, awnings and extensive use of glass, she said. The parking lot, 30 feet of which will front on the boulevard, will have entrances on Knott and Russell streets, she said. There will be extensive landscaping along the perimeters.

The existing building will be "returned to the owner" (Howard Glazer) when the new facility is complete, Groscup said.