

At-A-Glance Launches Historic "Millennium Tour"

Year-Long Program Features 1,000 Years of History and The Nation's Hopes & Dreams

AT-A-GLANCE, the nation's most recognized calendar manufacturer, is celebrating the new Millennium with a year-long, national traveling tour dedicated to providing an insightful look at the passing Millennium and displaying the Nation's hopes and dreams for the future. Combining a specially designed traveling Millennium Museum and the "Hopes & Dreams Journal," the Tour will travel the country beginning December 31, stopping at over 50 cities, 35 major events and more than 150 schools. The AT-A-GLANCE Millennium Tour museum and the "Hopes & Dreams Journal" will be complemented by an in-school educational curriculum which will be distributed to more than 70,000 teachers across the country. Major partners in the AT-A-GLANCE Millennium Tour include THE HISTORY CHANNEL and Sanford.

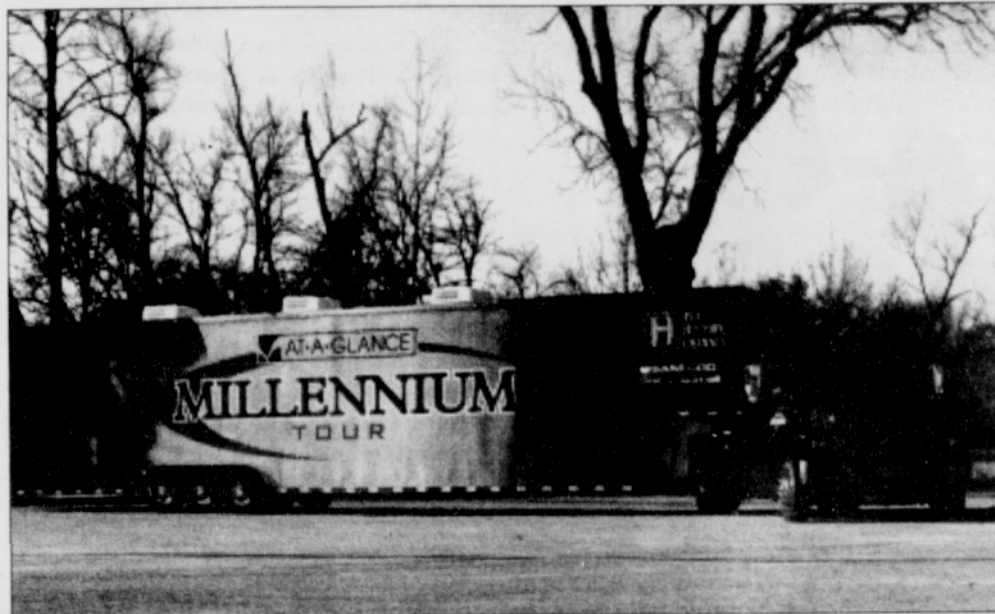

As the Tour makes stops throughout the country, the AT-A-GLANCE "Hopes & Dreams Journal," an oversized leather book, will be personally filled with the individual hopes and dreams of notable people, school children, celebrities, sports heroes, politicians, innovators and people who have positively impacted our society.

At the end of its nationwide journey, the "Hopes & Dreams Journal" will be put on display, offering future generations a unique insight into the hopes and dreams of the country leading into the new Millennium. All of the school's entries will be featured as a special Millennium display at the New York Public Library starting in December of 1999.

The Millennium Tour museum is a specially designed 48-foot custom trailer which offers an interactive and educational look back at the major events, people and accomplishments of the passing Millennium which shaped our society and positioned us to enter the next.

Featuring ten life-size 9 foot panels depicting important people whose "Hopes and Dreams" personify mankind's never-ending quest for betterment, the Tour museum includes five large wall panels (1000-1450, 1450-1600, 1600-1800, 1800-1900, 1900-1950). Each panel highlights pivotal events and people from the time period, with the final wall highlighting the years from 1950 to the present and the "Hopes & Dreams Journal." The ten featured individuals are Leif Eriksson, Marco Polo, Joan of Arc, Leonardo da Vinci, Ben Franklin, Abe Lincoln, Thomas Edison and Susan B. Anthony, along with Martin Luther King Jr. and John F. Kennedy on the last wall. Each of the five large wall panels includes a "Did You Know?" timeline including interesting facts and inventions which have impacted our world today, as well as quotes and images of an additional six noteworthy people from the time period.

The Millennium Tour mobile museum will be at the Margaret Scott Elementary School (14700 NE Sacramento) on Friday, April 30 and at the Oaks Amusement Park on Saturday, May 1 and Sunday, May 2 from 10 AM to 6 PM.
