TEAM-1 Education Marketing Alliance

Awards Completion Certificate to Graduate
From Dream Team 2,000 Course

TEAM-1 E.M.A., an economic educational movement company that started a few years ago, is conducting an apprenticeship training program in the Network Marketing Industry.

What student Adrian Preece said about the course: "The class was very beneficial. I thought it would be overwhelming, but each week I learned more and more about the Network Marketing Industry and how I can make good income in less time. I encourage young people and others to take the course."

Students young and old dedicating 1-1/2 hours, one evening a week for a 6 week course, will learn much about this rapidly growing industry which attracts people from all walks of life and from diverse ethnic groups all across the U.S.A. and around the world.

The industry has grown up and many of the misperceptions that people have about the industry can be dispelled when people have the right information according to Olive, Easley and Shareif who are currently supporting the goal of TEAM-1 E.M.A.

TEAM-1 circulates a flyer about recruiting people to be a part of Dream Team 2000. The flyer addresses 6 stipulations. If a person marks all 6, we would like to talk to them about the course.

The results of the training is to help the students, ages 18 to 65+, get involved in "Cooperative Economics" and make money within their first 30 to 60 days after training. If you have a concern about being in a positive movement and building a better tomorrow by working together with people of like mind today, please call us!

Clarice "Mickey" Harris

Clarice "Mickey" Harris was born December 16, 1937 in Hanford, California, the only child born to Aaron and Victoria Price. Mickey was baptized in the Madera Church of God at an early age. Upon coming to Portland at 16 years old to attend Warner Pacific College, she became a member of Beech Street Church of God and taught Sunday school.

Mickey met Bill Harris in 1954 upon his release from the US Army, and they married in 1955. During their union five children were born Diane, Phillip, Cheryl, Kandyce, and Dana. They were divorced later.

Mickey had a brilliant mind and worked in several occupations. Her last job of employment was at the Portland Observer Newspaper, where she worked as a journalist.

Mickey leaves to mourn her passing, her son Phillip, her four daughters Diane, Cheryl, Kandyce of Portland and Dr. Dana Harris-Echols of Virginia and her husband Dr. Eric Echols. Her three grandchildren Phyllis, Shawn and Samoyia, and a host of nieces, her nephew Wally and other relatives and friends.

Tibetan Nuns of Kathmandu

The Tibetan Buddhist Nuns in Kathmandu, Nepal will present Women's Freedom and Spiritual Liberation: An Evening of Sacred Performance, at Smith Ballroom, on the Portland State University campus, on Thursday evening, June 17 at 8 PM. Tickets cost $15, available at Music Millennium & Fastixx (224-TIXX).

The North American tour of the nuns of Khachoe Ghakyil Nunnery marks the first time that a troupe of Tibetan nuns have traveled in the West to stage performances of sacred music, dance, and theater, and to introduce audiences to the central role women have played in the spiritual life of Tibet.

Khachoe Ghakyil Nunnery, in Kathmandu, is one of a new generation of nunneries established in exile. It was founded in 1986, under the direction of Lama Zopa Rinpoche, as a part of the world wide Buddhist Network The Foundation for the Preservation of the Mahayana Tradition. The nuns of Khachoe Ghakyil Nunnery have had the doors of a classical Buddhist education opened to them in a way that was unheard of in old Tibet.

The current suppression of religious freedom inside Tibet has caused hundreds of nuns to flee their homeland in recent years. This influx of nuns seeking religious freedom has brought a rapid increase in the population of the Nunnery from the original five nuns to the current count of two hundred. One of the primary reasons for this North American Tour is to raise funds so that facilities can be expanded to suit the ever-increasing needs of the Khachoe Ghakyil Nunnery.
