and through Fastixx. A benefit reception with Alice Walker will follow the reading. Tickets for the reception are $100 (minimum donation); available at In Other Words, or by calling Bradley Angle House, 503/238-1672.

All proceeds from the reading and reception benefit Bradley-Angle House, the oldest domestic violence shelter in Portland (and in the west coast). In its 25 years of operation, Bradley-Angle House has developed a number of programs including an emergency shelter for battered women and children and a transitional shelter, two youth programs, an education and outreach Program, a Latina program, and a crisis hotline.

This event is co-sponsored by In Other Words and PSU Women's Studies and Black Studies departments. For more information about Bradley-Angle House's programs to end domestic violence, call 503/238-1672;
