Community Notified of Sex Offenders Released from Prison

The Portland Police Bureau is notifying the community of two registered sex offenders living in the 200 block of Northeast Stanton Street.

Mark Steven Klemmer is a 39-year-old white male, 5'9", 165 pounds with blond hair and blue eyes.

Klemmer was convicted in 1993 for molesting a 12-year-old boy who he had befriended.

The second offender is Dean Gordon Alby, a 42-year-old white male, 5'6, 160 pounds with blond hair and blue eyes.

Alby was convicted of molesting a 13-year-old boy whom he met while working as a counselor.

It's believed that there is a substantial risk that Klemmer and Alby could re-offend, police said. Oregon law allows enforcement agencies to release such information in order to promote community safety.

Both individuals are required to register with a law enforcement agency.

The two men are not wanted by the police at this time. They have served their sentence and are no longer being supervised by the Oregon Department of Corrections. Intimidating, harassing or threatening these men will not be tolerated and may be a crime, police said.

If you have any information about these offenders committing additional crimes please contact the Detectives of the Sex and Bias Crimes Detail at 503-823-4636.

Photos of Klemmer and Alby are available in the Portland Police Bureau's Identification Division, 12th floor of the Justice Center.
